First Lady's In Rome To Meet Pope

Talk With Italy's President Also Set For Mrs. Kennedy

ROME (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy, hailed by Italians as America's queen, flew into Rome today for a 33-hour visit and an audience with Pope John XXIII en route to India and Pakistan.

The jet airliner that brought the President's wife from New York touched down at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci airport about an hour late due to headwinds.

Traveling with the U.S. First Lady were her sister, Princess Lee Radziwell, aides, Secret Service men and a delegation of reporters.

During her brief stay in Rome, billed as private, Mrs. Kennedy was scheduled to call on Italian President Giovanni Gronchi before meeting the Pope.

After calling on Gronchi, Mrs. Kennedy and her sister will go to U.S. Ambassador G. Frederick Reinhardt's residence.

The President's wife will be guest of honor tonight at a private dinner given by Count Dino Pecci-Blunt, a Kennedy family friend.

She will attend Mass Sunday at the pontifical North American College and be received by the Pope.

Mrs. Kennedy was loudly applauded by a crowd of about 1,000 who watched her leave the plane.

She flashed a radiant smile and waved to the crowd watching from a roof observation area as she appeared at the forward door of the plane.

At the airport to meet the President's wife were U.S. Ambassador Frederick Reinhardt, seven other embassy officials and their wives, Count Guerino Roberti, protocol chief of the Italian Foreign Ministry and General Renato Salaris, airport commander.

She wore a leopard skin coat. Her shoes, purse, gloves and small hat were black. A black scarf was tied snugly around her neck against a chilly wind and slight drizzle.

Elida Mayor Slain; Suspect, 20, Hunted

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Clarence E. Prince, about 60, mayor of Elida, was shot to death in the street today, and a statewide search began for a 20-year-old suspect.

Prince also is constable of American Township. His son, Charles, is Elida's marshal.

State highway patrolmen said Prince apparently had stopped the gunman's car and was checking it when shot.

Kennedy Set For Political Talk Tonight

On Cruise Before Democratic Dinner At Miami Beach

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy plans to go cruising on the yacht Honey Fitz before steering into political waters with a speech tonight at a Democratic $100-a-plate dinner.

The chief executive is billed as principal speaker when some 3,000 party faithful are expected to assemble for a threefold purpose: To raise money, $300,000 or so, judging by advance sales; to put on a show of party amity in a state with increasing Republican strength, and to launch Sen. George A. Smathers on his re-election campaign.

The dinner is a testimonial to Smathers, an old friend of Kennedy's, who is seeking his third term in the Senate.

The opulent resort city buzzed with talk of possible demonstrations by Cuban refugees.

Leaders of the thousands of anti-Castro refugees in the Miami area have urged them to put on a demonstration to show their thanks for U.S. assistance and sympathy.

But most sources Friday night discounted reports that 35,000 or more refugees would mass in front of the beachfront hotel where the banquet will be held.

However, police acted to head off the risk of any trouble. Two hundred officers were on duty and warnings have gone out that anyone starting a disturbance will be arrested.

The President is staying at the home of the late Harriett E. Young on the Biscayne Bay side of Miami Beach.

Kennedy occupied a second-floor bedroom overlooking the bay and the mansion's swimming pool.

100 To Aid Red Cross Drive At Wellsville

More than 100 volunteers will begin a week-long house-to-house canvass in Wellsville Sunday for the annual Red Cross Fund campaign.

Working under 15 area captains, the volunteers will call at each home in the solicitation.

The house canvass will continue through next Saturday, according to Jack Lanam and Mrs. Patricia Morris, co-chairmen of this phase.

The city goal is $2,945. John Cataldo, 709 Riverside Ave., is drive chairman.

The canvassing of merchants, industries and city employes was to conclude today and a report is expected early next week.

Foreign Ministers To Meet

Rusk Takes Off For Geneva Parley On Cold War Issues

Soviet Aide Hopes Talks Curb Arms

Gromyko Arrives For Geneva Parley On Cold War Issues

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko arrived today for a round of East-West negotiations and said he hoped the nations meeting here would halt the "avalanche of armaments" facing mankind.

Gromyko's plane touched down at Geneva Airport in a driving rain. He was the first leading figure to arrive for foreign ministers talks on disarmament, nuclear and East-West cold war problems, including Berlin and Germany.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to arrive tonight and Britain's foreign secretary, Lord Home, at midday Sunday.

The three will tackle a whole series of diplomatic problems in private exchanges in the next three days.

Their discussions will determine whether any chance actually exists for improving East-West relations.

Following these talks, 17 nations, including the three big powers, will undertake general disarmament negotiations. France is not participating in this work.

Experts for Britain and the United States worked on last-minute touches to a new nuclear proposal that could spell success or failure of the big three talks.

Gromyko was accompanied by Valerian Zorin and Vladimir Semenov, deputy foreign ministers of foreign affairs.

$9,000 Loss Set For Fire

Campground Rd. Dwelling Destroyed

Damages were placed at approximately $9,000 in a fire blamed on an overheated oil furnace which destroyed the home of Arthur W. McElroy Jr., 610 Campground Rd., late Friday morning.

Homer Cronin, assistant chief of the Liverpool Township West fire department, estimated the loss at $6,000 to the four-room frame home and about $3,000 to the contents.

McElroy, his wife and three small children lost all of their possessions, Cronin said.

No one was at home when the fire broke out. McElroy told firemen conditions were normal when he left about 10 a.m. but he returned about 11:30 to find the home enveloped in smoke.

Nine men and three trucks from the west department, along with two trucks and men from Glenmoor, battled the flames for about three hours, hampered by thick smoke and a double roof on the house, which had recently been remodeled, Cronin said.

A lawnmower shop, which McElroy operates in a separate building near his home, was not damaged.

5 Dead, 4 Missing In Plane Accidents

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two planes crashed and a third was missing in storm-swept areas of northern Mexico and the southwestern United States.

Five persons are known dead and four more are missing.

A Piper Comanche crashed Friday near Ensenada, Mexico, killing a San Diego couple.

A Beech Bonanza crashed north of Prescott in northern Arizona, killing three men. The Federal Aviation Agency said there may have been a fourth victim.

A Piper Cherokee disappeared near Indio, Calif., after the pilot radioed a distress signal. Four persons were aboard.

3-WAY CRASH SCENE. An officer of the Carnegie Barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police is shown investigating this three-way crash that injured six and involved two rigs and a bus on Pa. Route 18 at Hillendale in Beaver County 12 miles east of East Liverpool about 7 this morning. George Hacker, 61, of Hookstown R. D. 1 was admitted to Washington (Pa.) Hospital with chest and pelvic injuries and Jay Briggs, 27, of Burgettstown with injuries of the legs. The other four suffered minor injuries and were treated and released. The bus was bound from Washington via Burgettstown carrying workers to Aliquippa. Officers said the driver apparently tried to pass the tractor-trailer at left, and struck the rig shown in the foreground.

Hill Friends Plan Greeting For U2 Pilot

Virginia Welcome Monday To Include Talks, Little Hoopla

BIG STONE GAP, Va. (AP)—The hill-country neighbors of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers will welcome him home here Monday in ceremonies that may be long on speeches but definitely short on hoopla.

"It will be sort of a hero's welcome," said Big Stone Gap Mayor Carl Murphy.

But, he added, there will be no parade, no motorcade, no bands when Powers revisits his native Wise County.

The low-keyed exercises will be jointly sponsored by the Wise County towns of Pound, where Powers grew up; Norton, where his father runs a cobbler's shop; and Big Stone Gap.

Big Stone Gap was picked as the scene of the welcome home celebration because it has the necessary facilities—a City Armory that will hold 1,500 persons.

"Everything we're going to do will be inside," said Mayor Murphy. "It shouldn't run more than an hour, the whole works. We're going to put a strict limit on speeches."

Plenty of speechmakers should be available. Beside local legislators, invitations have been sent to Virginia Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr.; the state's two U.S. senators, Harry F. Byrd and A. Willis Robertson; and 9th Dist. Rep. Pat Jennings.

Whether all these dignitaries actually will be here at 2 p.m. Monday is problematical. The invitations were issued only Friday night after a conference of Pound, Norton and Big Stone Gap officials.

Section Of St. Clair Has Power Failure

Ohio Power Co. crews were attempting to locate the cause of an electrical failure in the area of lower St. Clair Ave. this morning.

The power failure occurred at 9:40 and service was restored about noon.

The failure affected a number of homes in the 800 block of St. Clair Ave., and others on Grant St., Daisy Ln. and Rigby St.

Debris Cleanup Tackled

Five Storm-Hit States Due Aid

By The Associated Press

The devastated Eastern Seaboard fought to clear a monumental mass of debris today as the worst week of winter storms in its history faded under clearing skies. Sufferers in five states had President Kennedy's promise of federal disaster relief.

A storm that dropped seven inches of snow on parts of Georgia dwindled in intensity as it plodded northward Friday night and was expected to disappear during the day. It carried rain and light snow as far north as southern New England.

Tides running at a foot above normal slowed the drainoff of flooded coastal lowlands and hampered cleanup operations from Miami Beach to southern New England.

But this latest assault of the dying winter weather was small compared to the storm that began Tuesday and ravaged the coast for three days, leaving 38 known dead, 10 missing and damage estimated at $300 million.

Hard-hit sections of New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia were due financial aid as a result of President Kennedy's designation of them as disaster areas. Also included was West Virginia, which suffered from floods last week.

A disaster declaration entitles stricken areas to federal financial aid to repair public facilities. Private homeowners in six states were covered under a separate disaster designation by the Small Business Administration, which prepared to grant them low-interest, long-term rehabilitation loans.

The Agriculture Department listed 17 damaged counties in four states where farmers may obtain emergency credit to replenish property, livestock and land damaged by the storm.

Sunday And Monday

Door-To-Door Phase Set In Red Cross Drive Here

The House-to-House Division of the local Red Cross fund campaign will conduct a two-day canvass Sunday and Monday of approximately 9,000 homes. A total of 225 volunteers will take part.

Headed by Mrs. Myer Alpern, the division will strive to reach a $1,900 quota set by campaign leaders. "Weather conditions undoubtedly will affect the progress of residential coverage," Mrs. Alpern said, "but we have every hope that at least 90 per cent of the homes can be contacted within the two-day period."

Workers' kits, supplies and instructions were to be distributed at a 2 p.m. meeting today at Red Cross headquarters, during which a "coffee hour" is to be held. Mrs. Alpern is being assisted at this event by members of the Red Cross staff aides and Canteen Corps.

In announcing this fourth phase of the local campaign, Drive Chairman Harold Sneddon called for "a generous response from East Liverpool residents", saying, "Not only do disaster operations, going on right now in storm and flood areas, demonstrate the need for local support, but the expanded service program of our own chapter office emphasizes that need. When we consider that, during the last year, the local chapter handled 353 cases of 'home service' to members of the Armed Forces, veterans and their families then we are aware that our chapter office must be maintained. A generous response to the annual campaign is the only way in which Red Cross services can be continued in this area."

The House-to-House Division will begin its calls tomorrow in 16 residential districts of the city.

Paris, Algiers Again Target Of Terrorists

But Peace Talks Reported Moving Toward Cease-Fire

ALGIERS (AP) — Right-wing terrorists struck in Paris and Algiers today, but Algerian peace talks moved steadily toward an accord for a cease-fire.

A bomb planted in a parked car in the Paris suburb of Issy les Moulineaux blew up with tremendous force during the morning rush hour, killing two policemen and a postal employe and wounding 50 other persons. Authorities blamed the explosion on the rightist European Secret Army Organization, which is opposed to Algerian independence.

The booby-trapped car was parked in front of a building where a leftist rally was scheduled later in the day. The explosion echoed through the heart of the French capital at a time when the city's security forces were being reinforced in expectation of massive secret army retaliation to a cease-fire announcement.

The tempo of terrorism picked up in Algeria Friday after two relatively quiet days. Forty-four persons were killed and 31 wounded in 55 separate attacks.

But French and Algeria negotiators began weekend sessions at Evian, France, showing no signs that the stepped up violence was impeding progress toward an agreement on ending the seven and a half year Algerian rebellion and eventual independence for the territory.

Schools To Receive Polio Vaccine Forms

Consent forms for the Sabin oral polio immunization will be distributed to all schools in Columbiana County the first part of next week.

A total of 72,000 of the forms was received Friday by the Columbiana County Medical Society, which is sponsoring the polio immunization at public clinics March 21 and 24.

School children will take the forms home for parents' signatures, Medical Society officers said. An explanatory letter will accompany each form.

Asks Soviet To Help Nip Arms Race

Preliminary Talks To Set Stage For 17-Nation Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk took off for Geneva today, calling on the Soviets to join in a real effort to stem the arms race and reduce cold war tensions.

Rusk, heading for a 17-nation disarmament conference, told newsmen that "We will do everything that we can on our side to help turn down the arms race and reduce present tensions."

"If all the rest who are coming to Geneva will approach it in that spirit we will make some real headway," Rusk said.

He expressed hope that a preliminary meeting with the foreign ministers of Russia and Britain will develop "a framework in which the conference itself will make some real progress."

Rusk, heading a 33-man delegation, took off from Andrews Air Force Base aboard a military jet liner. Because of poor weather, the plane was routed through Goose Bay, Labrador, instead of undertaking a direct course to Geneva.

Rusk will get together in the Swiss city with the British and Soviet foreign ministers Sunday night. The setting will be a dinner Rusk is giving for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home.

Here negotiations may start in earnest on disarmament and the Berlin dispute. The meeting is preliminary to Wednesday's formal opening of the 17-nation disarmament conference of Western, Eastern and nonaligned nations.

Prior to Sunday night's dinner, Rusk will have lunch at Lausanne, near Geneva, with West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder. Then Rusk and Home will confer at Geneva before seeing Gromyko.

Auto Agency Is Hit Again In Burglary

Continuing to seek leads to a thief who stole and later abandoned a new $3,000 Mercury sedan from Arb Motor Sales, 1340 Pennsylvania Ave., police were confronted with another breaking and entering today at the auto agency.

Apparently nothing was taken in the entering discovered at 1:17 this morning by Patrolmen Jerry Adkins and K. J. Montgomery while on a routine patrol. A cash box was damaged, they said.

The officers said they observed that a 12-by-16-inch window on the east side of the building had been broken to gain entrance.

The thief ransacked desk drawers in an office near the body shop and ripped loose a drawer in the office on the west side of the showroom. Police also found doors open on the north, east and west sides of the building.

Chief Americo Radeschi said police still are without tangible clues to the theft of the 1962 Mercury sedan, which was recovered Thursday night on Ravine St. It was taken the night of March 1-2.

Because the car was clean and the weather so bad for the last week, the chief surmised it may have been hidden in a garage.

The car was found abandoned on Ravine St. by Patrolmen C. E. (Bill) Tice and Kenneth Mooney after Charles Sell, 316 Ogden St., spotted the car in the 100 block while visiting friends and notified the officers.

The auto was taken by a burglar who broke into the garage building, ransacked the parts room and office and moved one car in order to drive the new sedan out of the building.

He expressed hope that a preliminary meeting with the foreign ministers of Russia and Britain will develop "a framework in which the conference itself will make some real progress."

Rusk, heading a 33-man delegation, took off from Andrews Air Force Base aboard a military jet liner. Because of poor weather, the plane was routed through Goose Bay, Labrador, instead of undertaking a direct course to Geneva.

Rusk will get together in the Swiss city with the British and Soviet foreign ministers Sunday night. The setting will be a dinner Rusk is giving for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home.

Here negotiations may start in earnest on disarmament and the Berlin dispute. The meeting is preliminary to Wednesday's formal opening of the 17-nation disarmament conference of Western, Eastern and nonaligned nations.

Prior to Sunday night's dinner, Rusk will have lunch at Lausanne, near Geneva, with West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder. Then Rusk and Home will confer at Geneva before seeing Gromyko.

Auto Agency Is Hit Again In Burglary

Continuing to seek leads to a thief who stole and later abandoned a new $3,000 Mercury sedan from Arb Motor Sales, 1340 Pennsylvania Ave., police were confronted with another breaking and entering today at the auto agency.

Apparently nothing was taken in the entering discovered at 1:17 this morning by Patrolmen Jerry Adkins and K. J. Montgomery while on a routine patrol. A cash box was damaged, they said.

The officers said they observed that a 12-by-16-inch window on the east side of the building had been broken to gain entrance.

The thief ransacked desk drawers in an office near the body shop and ripped loose a drawer in the office on the west side of the showroom. Police also found doors open on the north, east and west sides of the building.

Chief Americo Radeschi said police still are without tangible clues to the theft of the 1962 Mercury sedan, which was recovered Thursday night on Ravine St. It was taken the night of March 1-2.

Because the car was clean and the weather so bad for the last week, the chief surmised it may have been hidden in a garage.

The car was found abandoned on Ravine St. by Patrolmen C. E. (Bill) Tice and Kenneth Mooney after Charles Sell, 316 Ogden St., spotted the car in the 100 block while visiting friends and notified the officers.

The auto was taken by a burglar who broke into the garage building, ransacked the parts room and office and moved one car in order to drive the new sedan out of the building.

Award Event Attracts 184

Seven area residents were among 184 who attended a ceremony Friday night at Pittsburgh at which Hobart M. Kraner of Bethlehem, Pa., received the annual Albert Victor Bleininger Award for distinguished achievement in the field of ceramics from the Pittsburgh Section of the American Ceramic Society.

Attending the dinner and award ceremony at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wells, Robert Wells and Harry W. Thiemecke, all of the Homer Laughlin China Co., where the late Dr. Bleininger was research director; William Irwin of the Potters Supply Co., and Lawson Mason and George Ward of the McLain Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co., Inc.

Kraner, associate director of ceramic research for the Bethlehem Steel Co., received the gold medal and scroll in memory of Dr. Bleininger from James B. Allerdice, chairman of the Pittsburgh Section.

The award winner was introduced by Roland B. Snow, chairman of the awards committee.

A biography of Kraner's career was given by Dr. E. F. Osborn, vice president in charge of research at Pennsylvania State University. Dr. J. B. Austin, administrative vice president of the U.S. Steel Corp., was the toastmaster.

Campaign leaders today expressed satisfaction with the progress thus far, but advised that reports are as yet too scattered for any definite trends.

Letter Received And Noted

At the close of a printed blast against what he calls a "no-win" foreign policy, the United States senator from South Carolina, Strom Thurmond, says there will be more blasts to follow.

The number of this one was 8, and included in the same envelope was No. 7 (same theme), so apparently the blasting has been in progress awhile. Also, the letterhead carried a picture of Sen. Thurmond, so this is presumably part of the campaign to build up the South Carolinian as the strong man of a far-rightist movement.

WE HAVE NO OBJECTION to a Thurmond buildup as such. It's all part of the political hurly-burly by which we govern ourselves. Foreigners don't understand how government can come out of so much chaos and sometimes it puzzles us, too.

But essentially it's an open marketplace for ideas, and anybody can take his chance on finding buyers. No one can claim he was denied the right to make a fool or hero of himself. It eliminates the gunfire that punctuates the record of governments in countries afraid to maintain free marketplaces.

However, to get back to Strom Thurmond and what it looks as if he was up to, the envelope in which he included us among newspapers he is flooding with his propaganda was marked "Public Document — Free."

ELSEWHERE on the envelope his name was printed in script, presumably his personal signature. This means, of course, this man's attempt to build himself into some version of a southern-fried man on horseback leading us children of darkness into the light is being added to the postal deficit.

We know only one way to discourage this, which is to throw into the wastebasket unopened all franked mail, other than that from our own representatives and senators. This is what happened to Strom Thurmond's blasts numbered 1 to 6, and it is what will happen to all of them numbered 9 and up.

It would be better if this kind of junk mail never were sent at all.

Barring that happy eventuality, the best we can do is ditch it, unopened and unread.

Down To Earth

A number of unofficial proposals to erect a multi-level parking garage at the site of the former Ceramic Theater were heard last fall when the theater was razed in preparation for a municipal parking lot.

Multi-level facilities have proven efficient and profitable for some large cities, including Pittsburgh and Cleveland, but generally have flopped when tried in smaller municipalities.

Alliance, for example, currently is trying to unload its Minit Park Building erected in 1954 at a cost of $82,000.

Losses at the parking lift structure have ranged from $1,012 the first year of operation in 1956 to $4,840 last year, leaving the total loss at $22,210, not including bond principal and interest, plus a $95,000 bond debt still outstanding.

Alliance's experience is another reason why East Liverpool's decision to keep parking down to earth makes sense.

This Must Be Co-Existence

It's supposed to be gratifying news that the State Department and its counterpart in Moscow have signed a new cultural agreement boosting the number of exchange visits that will be allowed.

It is gratifying news.

We hope the Russians share our satisfaction in learning by first-hand acquaintance that there is no visible difference between Americans and themselves. They do some things exceedingly well, such as dancing. We do well in basketball and sprinting; they do well in long-distance running and chess.

Their women athletes are rougher and tougher than ours. Their ballerinas also are the most, but we have an edge in actresses and good-looking girls. They are first rate in classical music, but we originated and perfected jazz, one thing the Russians never claimed they invented.

In a thousand ways, more or less, we have learned that the Russians are like us, except in political ideology. They have learned we are like them, except in political ideology. It's something like knowing that in the United States Democrats and Republicans are alike, until you get to the touchy area of their political differences.

So, as far as possible you skirt the touchy area and concentrate on things that can be discussed without setting off fireworks. This is co-existence.

To be sure, many people mistrust co-existence because they say it merely hides what the Russians intend to do in the long run; namely, make the world safe for communism. It does behoove us to be careful about that, but it behooves the Russians to be careful too, because what Americans intend to do in the long run is to make the world safe for capitalism.

If it weren't for that, Americans and Russians could get along almost as well as Republicans and Democrats, thanks to cultural exchanges that have revealed they have everything in common, except politics.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Mortimer Topblower is in a new specialized business. He has formed the All Purpose Street Parade Banner and Sign Co., and, from the demonstrations, especially by the very young, he thinks he has struck gold. His speciality is a banner with the words "GO HOME" on it, with the name of or state of the person to be put in by demonstrators.

Other signs include "ACT NOW," "BE A GOOD AMERICAN," and "FORWARD TO A BETTER WORLD," which can be used for any type of protest against anything.

He offers banners in sizes and weights for these classifications: (1) Kids Under 14; (2) Kids Between 14 and 16; (3) Ages 16 to 19.

With each sign he will give free suggestions for hair and beard styles, suitable demonstration costumes and marching songs for groups of four or more.

"I am also offering a booklet (paperback) covering these subjects: "How To Be Sure You Are in the Right Parade," "Hints On A Fast Switch To the Right Line If You Find You Are in Wrong One" and "Does a Van Dyke Help In Giving Prestige to a Riot?"

"A booklet is also in the works," says Mortimer, "which gives instructions in following categories:

1. How to exasperate the police.
2. Flaunting the laws without half trying.
3. The right moment to sit down in street.
4. How to relax body while being thrown into the police car.
5. The importance of being tossed into police car in an area where photographers are massed.

Mortimer is working on a folding banner with collapsible stick, which can be raised and collapsed when needed. Also a Topblower Corporation Special, which consists of a zipper sign which can change swiftly from "Down With Nuclear Subs," "Who Wants a Polaris?" and "Stop President Kennedy's Tests."

"Big money used to be gained in juvenile world by selling catchers' mitts, air rifles, breakfast foods, bubble gum, pogo sticks and gumdrops," Mr. Topblower said. "Today the dough is in equipment for street riots and general demonstrations."

AIR FORCE seeks wrestlers for specialized training. Let's hope it bars professionals in firm conviction that burlesque and vaudeville are no help to armed services. Still, there's a chance the Air Force might use a few pro-wrestlers in test to see whether ferocity of facial expressions can help win a war.

Supreme Court decided 7-2 that homeowners, forced to give up homes because of airport noise, vibrations, etc. . . ., must be compensated. This upholds the belief that anybody with a house near an airport has same right to relax and sleep as anybody else.

An East German city has banned sale of diapers before baby arrives. This sounds like another blow at preparedness.

Soviets have built wall around part of new apartment house bought by them as Red headquarters in New York. Neighbors can't figure out reason. Maybe Russians just have a passion for cinder blocks.

If an American railroad could talk: "I am the Railroad. (So sorry!) I knew happy days and was once regarded as important. But I am now in the when-a-feller-needs-a-friend class. The caboose should be put up ahead, as it is a better indication of the direction in which I am going.

"Once my whistle spoke of power, progress and prosperity. It is now the voice of a "patsy." Once my bell made sweet music; today it is a recording of "Memories" on a scratched record. I knew a time when my sound across country in the night stirred dreams of glory. It now stirs thoughts of economic headaches, referees in bankruptcy, commuter protests, reduced schedules and shorter trips to the diner.

"I am expected to be the backbone of commerce. But the legislators and commissions seem to belong to an Anti-Backbone Club. I am a bulwark of transportation. But too many people think nothing is an authentic bulwark unless it has rubber tires, a horn and hot brakes.

"I am subject to more laws, regulations and rules by more states than I could shake a deficit at. I must buy and maintain my own right of way and give a Chautauqua salute to trucks wearing out highways by request. I am supposed to run passenger trains at a loss, keep commuters satisfied at my own expense and approach legislators hat in hand, on bended knee, extending a tin cup.

"I need appreciation and help but have to settle for 'Things are bad all over' and Congressional quartettes singing 'Any old port in a storm' I signal for a lifeline. But all I get is a few inches of thin rope COD.

Casey Jones, according to the old song looked at his watch and his watch was slow; he looked at the water and the water was low; he turned to his firemen and he said 'We're gonna reach Frisco but we'll all be dead.'

"Casey was lucky; he could afford a watch and nobody denied him water. His children had another popper on the Salt Lake line. I wish I could say as much for mine."

A flea can jump a distance of about a foot, although no higher than four or five inches. It is wingless and lives on almost all animals and birds.

The Weak Musketeer

Unions Aided By Report Law

By Victor Riesel

Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters' Union has so many attorneys, he appears to be running the nation's biggest law firm with a union attached. Thus there is the impression it is always high noon and he and Bob Kennedy are dueling in the sun. Not so. There is no vendetta. No one is picking on the teamsters. There is — thanks to the "goldfish bowl" Labor - Management Reporting and Disclosure Act — a constant federal surveying of some 52,300 unions, big and small, local and international.

Victor Riesel

Nobody is getting tough with anybody. But cases are being cracked by John Holcombe, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor - Management Reports and by his staff of many ex-FBI agents and IBM computers.

Between this division of the Labor Department and the Justice Department enough work has been done now to startle the nation with a series of indictments.

THESE WILL make the headlines in New York City, Miami, several parts of Michigan and in points west.

These are still grand jury secrets. But enough is around to show that one president of a smaller international union has payed real fancy with almost $50,000 of the working Joe's funds. Others have been in more deals than a Las Vegas blackjack card handler. Others will be shown tied in with multi-million dollar loans out of pension funds.

Commissioner Holcombe is chary of discussing these. If he were more tight lipped he'd dissect the stem of his ubiquitous pipe. But he does open up enough to point out that at least 42,000 of the 52,300 reports filed in his "goldfish bowl" by local and international unions appear thoroughly accurate. The rest have been returned for further information.

He wants no impression given —and correct he is — which would indict the entire mass or impugn its honesty.

What should be disclosed is the value of the Reporting and Disclosure Act passed Sept. 14, 1959. Since then there have been 9,199 violations probed. Of these there have been 38 cases of embezzlement of union funds brought into the courts.

CONVICTIONS of 25 men resulted. They stole from their trade union brethren — from the men who trusted them. This is morally as well as criminally offensive. The sums have ranged from $43,000 to $13,000 and on down to $770. One case was acquitted, three dismissed and nine are pending.

There was much gnashing of teeth in some labor circles when the law was passed. But it has stood the clean unions in good stead — and has begun giving the infested ones long overdue doses.

No harm is done to a telegraphers' union or any impeccable union if the government finds a loner sticking grubby fingers into the dues receipts.

It saves them a scandal such as hit the United Mine Workers when the government arrested a district president on charges of involvement in the disappearance of almost $400,000 from an Eastern Pennsylvania bank. Earlier action could have nipped that one and not inflicted pain on John Lewis in this era of his life.

There also have been indictments of hod carrier officials, hotel union men, one in the woodworkers, the chemical union (not the one in Denver) and the papermakers.

THERE WAS a fascinating case involving an International Longshoremen's Association local official. This happened in Brooklyn, where a lot more than trees grow. There are some pier facilities there mighty vital to this land and distribution of goods to the Caribbean, Latin America and Europe—including military bases.

It is illegal for a waterfront local to permit an ex-felon to hold office if it wishes to collect dues. Yet Longshoremen's Local 1277 there had such a hood on its payroll. To conceal him, the local's president, Joe Colozzo, did not include the ex-convict's name on the report which must be filed with the labor - management "goldfish bowl" section. Colozzo, furthermore, inserted names of men who did not hold office.

Recently a three-court criminal "information" was filed in U.S. district court charging them with filing false papers with the secretary of labor; misrepresentation of facts and failing to disclose material facts.

All this information should have been correctly filed on Forms LM-1 and LM-2 — the Labor Organization Information Report and the Annual Financial Report. Such documents now can be seen in 24 regional offices throughout the country.

Which is as it should be — the people have the right to know.

Letters To The Editor

To the voters of East Liverpool: We would like to ask this question, "Would you like to see our American flag removed from the City Hall and put the Russian flag up?"

That to us is the same thing as destroying our votes. We voted the president of Council out, we still have him; we voted the tax out four times and now we have it again. Now can someone say and prove it that Mr. Khrushchev wasn't right when he said some day he would take America over? We think he has started in East Liverpool. When one man can tell a small group to pass something that has been voted down four times, that to us is a dictator.

We are going to do all in our power to help organize a party and see if the voters who are as disappointed as we are will help to get rid of these "dictators". We don't feel they are either Democrats or Republican, for never in history have we ever known either party to try to kill the people's votes. Up to now that can only be done in Russia.

When this tax is voted in by the people, we as American citizens will pay it whether we like it or not. But we will do everything to help destroy anything that is being put on as a dictator.

We are all smart enough to know our city needs something, but most of all we need new faces in the City Hall. Oh, we don't mean you Mr. Duffy. We know you are doing all you can. You know if you throw a rabbit in among a bunch of dogs, he hasn't much of a chance. Let us rise and show these few dictators that this is still America.

This is not our first letter and it won't be our last. We are not going to let the people forget this bunch of "dictators" and will continue to ask for help to get our town free of them.

A Cardinal's Story

By David Lawrence

Spellman's Biography Published

A new book has just been published which will certainly be widely talked about wherever the influence of religious groups in politics is discussed. It is an authorized biography of Cardinal Spellman. It tells for the first time the inside story of how and why, after a lapse of 53 years, relations were resumed in 1939 between the White House and the Vatican. It covers a period of 10 years during which the late Myron C. Taylor, formerly head of the U.S. Steel Corp. served as the personal envoy of the president of the United States to Pope Pius XII. Mr. Taylor, who had been appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, submitted his resignation to President Truman in 1950.

David Lawrence

The intimacy portrayed between the Vatican and President Roosevelt will doubtless cause some Catholic publications to repeat recent comments that a president who is a Protestant evidently can do some things to please Catholics of voting age that a president who, like Mr. Kennedy, happens to be a Catholic feels it would be unwise politically to do.

Whatever the comments may be, the fact is that the book, which was written by Father Robert I. Gannon, a former president of Fordham University, contains an authorized version of a very interesting chapter in American history.

Excerpts from Cardinal Spellman's diary and quotations from unpublished letters written by President Roosevelt to the Cardinal tell of a contact between dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church and the White House which has never been duplicated. In fact, the author of the book, after reviewing President Truman's unsuccessful attempt in 1950 to get Congress to establish diplomatic relations formally with the Vatican, says wistfully:

"And there the matter has rested ever since. Mr. Truman's successor, with no pressure from Catholic America, seemed satisfied with sleeping dogs; a policy that is not likely to be changed by the present administration."

IT WOULD APPEAR that some very good news stories were missed or suppressed at the White House in the 1930s. The Gannon book, for example, discloses an entry in the Spellman Diary on Feb. 16 and 17, 1937, as follows:

"Arrived in Washington at 1:15 in the midst of a snowstorm. James Rossevelt at train to meet me and bring me to White House where I was assigned to the Yellow Bedroom.

"We worked in his (the President's) office on speech that he is to deliver Saturday night over national hook-up urging Massachusetts to ratify child labor amendment. Had tea with President and he was wonderful. He made the cocktails before dinner. For dinner he had as guests Col. and Mrs. Watson, Commissioner and Mrs. Allen, James and Betsy Roosevelt, Miss Le Hand. We saw movies after supper. It was quite an experience.

"Said Mass (next day) in the Monroe Room of the White House. It was the first time Mass was ever said in the White House. Miss Le Hand, Miss Tully, Miss Eben and Miss Hackmeister present. Breakfast afterwards with them. The coffee cups were as large as bowls.

"Said goodbye to the President in bed. He said he had intended to get up for Mass."

The name of President Kennedy's father is mentioned in the chapter telling how informal relations with the Vatican were begun. The author says that Cardinal Spellman, who was then a bishop, suggested to Joseph P. Kennedy "that he mention to the President the possibility" of a representative to the Vatican, and "was delighted to learn from the account of the meeting that Roosevelt was sympathetic."

The author adds: "It was, however, the visit to Hyde Park of Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state at the Vatican, (later Pope Pius XII) that forged the most important link in the chain of events leading up to the final decision."

THE BOOK mentions the fact that the elder Kennedy, while U.S. ambassador to Great Britain, was appointed by President Roosevelt to act as his special representative at the coronation of Pope Pius XII.

Father Gannon writes that "it was another first, the first papal coronation at which the United States government had been officially represented." Bishop Spellman's diary says in this connection on March 17, 1939:

"Joe Kennedy phoned me from London expressing his joy at all that has taken place and the honors he has received from the Holy Father. He said Cardinal O'Connel (Boston) is against recognition of the Vatican by the U.S.A."

President Truman on Feb. 3, 1950, in a letter to Joseph Kennedy, wrote:

"It is indeed helpful to have all this background information concerning the origin of the Taylor mission from one who had so large and influential a part in the preliminary negotiations."

Most people today probably are not aware of the fact, as stated in the new book, that the United States and the Vatican have had quasi-diplomatic relations about eight times.

"The Cardinal Spellman Story," just published by Doubleday & Co., resembles in many respects the biography of the late Cardinal Gibbons, who died in 1921 at the age of 87 after an eventful career in the public eye.

The latter work, in two volumes — which was written by John Tracy Ellis, professor of American Church History at the Catholic University, and published in 1952 — tells the story of the eminent prelate's many contacts and friendship with Presidents Grover Cleveland and Theodore Roosevelt, which in those days also became subjects of political controversy.

The New Crop

By Truman Twill

The first lamb arrived during the night of March 5-6. It was dry and frisky at 6 a.m., so it must have been born about midnight.

The second was born about 24 hours later.

A confession is in order this year because something has gone out of the lambing routine that once made it the high point of the year.

The deepest satisfaction I expect to have this spring came from the obvious pleasure of a friend who sidled into the sheep business for the same reason we got into it at our place—to keep the grass mowed.

He had bad luck at first, including the worst luck a sheepman can have—sheep-killing dogs. But in the last year things have been shaping up neat and pretty. When he called me last Sunday to tell me his third set of twins in 24 hours had arrived, I went over to feel happy in his behalf.

It reminded me of the first lambs ever born at the Twillery. The lady I look at lamb-littered scenery with called me at the office to announce the news. I was scheduled to take in a free banquet that night, the one thing most nearly calculated to keep me from changing my mind.

This was different. I went home immediately to marvel at this miracle that was going on in our cobwebbed barn. There were triplets. But No. 3 never made it out of the birth sack. It was as if he had been packaged for delivery in a clear plastic bag that never had been opened.

Since then I have seen this unusual sight several times and have saved lambs that otherwise would have smothered a-borning. But the most unusual thing about these remarkable creatures is their ability to walk, run, jump and eat within a matter of a few minutes under normal conditions.

I picked up the second lamb of this year's crop so soon after it was born it hadn't stood up yet. It was still carrying the heat of its mother's body when I carried it to the "drying department" where infrared lights help evaporate moisture from the new lambs' tightly curled fleeces.

But it must be that I have seen it too often.

Years ago, I thought nothing of staying up all night for fear I'd miss something. Now I go to bed, unless it turns out to be a cold night. With sheep it isn't like it is with women, who can wake up the household in time to make the trip to the hospital.

I have speculated about a device that would ring a bell in the house, but I'm stuck on an important detail. I wouldn't know in advance which ewe to hook it up to.

It's getting on toward spring. When lambs arrive, can blossoms be far beehive . . . something like that.

Letter Received And Noted

At the close of a printed blast against what he calls a "no-win" foreign policy, the United States senator from South Carolina, Strom Thurmond, says there will be more blasts to follow.

The number of this one was 8, and included in the same envelope was No. 7 (same theme), so apparently the blasting has been in progress awhile. Also, the letterhead carried a picture of Sen. Thurmond, so this is presumably part of the campaign to build up the South Carolinian as the strong man of a far-rightist movement.

WE HAVE NO OBJECTION to a Thurmond buildup as such. It's all part of the political hurly-burly by which we govern ourselves. Foreigners don't understand how government can come out of so much chaos and sometimes it puzzles us, too.

But essentially it's an open marketplace for ideas, and anybody can take his chance on finding buyers. No one can claim he was denied the right to make a fool or hero of himself. It eliminates the gunfire that punctuates the record of governments in countries afraid to maintain free marketplaces.

However, to get back to Strom Thurmond and what it looks as if he was up to, the envelope in which he included us among newspapers he is flooding with his propaganda was marked "Public Document — Free."

ELSEWHERE on the envelope his name was printed in script, presumably his personal signature. This means, of course, this man's attempt to build himself into some version of a southern-fried man on horseback leading us children of darkness into the light is being added to the postal deficit.

We know only one way to discourage this, which is to throw into the wastebasket unopened all franked mail, other than that from our own representatives and senators. This is what happened to Strom Thurmond's blasts numbered 1 to 6, and it is what will happen to all of them numbered 9 and up.

It would be better if this kind of junk mail never were sent at all.

Barring that happy eventuality, the best we can do is ditch it, unopened and unread.

Down To Earth

A number of unofficial proposals to erect a multi-level parking garage at the site of the former Ceramic Theater were heard last fall when the theater was razed in preparation for a municipal parking lot.

Multi-level facilities have proven efficient and profitable for some large cities, including Pittsburgh and Cleveland, but generally have flopped when tried in smaller municipalities.

Alliance, for example, currently is trying to unload its Minit Park Building erected in 1954 at a cost of $82,000.

Losses at the parking lift structure have ranged from $1,012 the first year of operation in 1956 to $4,840 last year, leaving the total loss at $22,210, not including bond principal and interest, plus a $95,000 bond debt still outstanding.

Alliance's experience is another reason why East Liverpool's decision to keep parking down to earth makes sense.

This Must Be Co-Existence

It's supposed to be gratifying news that the State Department and its counterpart in Moscow have signed a new cultural agreement boosting the number of exchange visits that will be allowed.

It is gratifying news.

We hope the Russians share our satisfaction in learning by first-hand acquaintance that there is no visible difference between Americans and themselves. They do some things exceedingly well, such as dancing. We do well in basketball and sprinting; they do well in long-distance running and chess.

Their women athletes are rougher and tougher than ours. Their ballerinas also are the most, but we have an edge in actresses and good-looking girls. They are first rate in classical music, but we originated and perfected jazz, one thing the Russians never claimed they invented.

In a thousand ways, more or less, we have learned that the Russians are like us, except in political ideology. They have learned we are like them, except in political ideology. It's something like knowing that in the United States Democrats and Republicans are alike, until you get to the touchy area of their political differences.

So, as far as possible you skirt the touchy area and concentrate on things that can be discussed without setting off fireworks. This is co-existence.

To be sure, many people mistrust co-existence because they say it merely hides what the Russians intend to do in the long run; namely, make the world safe for communism. It does behoove us to be careful about that, but it behooves the Russians to be careful too, because what Americans intend to do in the long run is to make the world safe for capitalism.

If it weren't for that, Americans and Russians could get along almost as well as Republicans and Democrats, thanks to cultural exchanges that have revealed they have everything in common, except politics.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Mortimer Topblower is in a new specialized business. He has formed the All Purpose Street Parade Banner and Sign Co., and, from the demonstrations, especially by the very young, he thinks he has struck gold. His speciality is a banner with the words "GO HOME" on it, with the name of or state of the person to be put in by demonstrators.

Other signs include "ACT NOW," "BE A GOOD AMERICAN," and "FORWARD TO A BETTER WORLD," which can be used for any type of protest against anything.

He offers banners in sizes and weights for these classifications: (1) Kids Under 14; (2) Kids Between 14 and 16; (3) Ages 16 to 19.

With each sign he will give free suggestions for hair and beard styles, suitable demonstration costumes and marching songs for groups of four or more.

"I am also offering a booklet (paperback) covering these subjects: "How To Be Sure You Are in the Right Parade," "Hints On A Fast Switch To the Right Line If You Find You Are in Wrong One" and "Does a Van Dyke Help In Giving Prestige to a Riot?"

"A booklet is also in the works," says Mortimer, "which gives instructions in following categories:

1. How to exasperate the police.
2. Flaunting the laws without half trying.
3. The right moment to sit down in street.
4. How to relax body while being thrown into the police car.
5. The importance of being tossed into police car in an area where photographers are massed.

Mortimer is working on a folding banner with collapsible stick, which can be raised and collapsed when needed. Also a Topblower Corporation Special, which consists of a zipper sign which can change swiftly from "Down With Nuclear Subs," "Who Wants a Polaris?" and "Stop President Kennedy's Tests."

"Big money used to be gained in juvenile world by selling catchers' mitts, air rifles, breakfast foods, bubble gum, pogo sticks and gumdrops," Mr. Topblower said. "Today the dough is in equipment for street riots and general demonstrations."

AIR FORCE seeks wrestlers for specialized training. Let's hope it bars professionals in firm conviction that burlesque and vaudeville are no help to armed services. Still, there's a chance the Air Force might use a few pro-wrestlers in test to see whether ferocity of facial expressions can help win a war.

Supreme Court decided 7-2 that homeowners, forced to give up homes because of airport noise, vibrations, etc. . . ., must be compensated. This upholds the belief that anybody with a house near an airport has same right to relax and sleep as anybody else.

An East German city has banned sale of diapers before baby arrives. This sounds like another blow at preparedness.

Soviets have built wall around part of new apartment house bought by them as Red headquarters in New York. Neighbors can't figure out reason. Maybe Russians just have a passion for cinder blocks.

If an American railroad could talk: "I am the Railroad. (So sorry!) I knew happy days and was once regarded as important. But I am now in the when-a-feller-needs-a-friend class. The caboose should be put up ahead, as it is a better indication of the direction in which I am going.

"Once my whistle spoke of power, progress and prosperity. It is now the voice of a "patsy." Once my bell made sweet music; today it is a recording of "Memories" on a scratched record. I knew a time when my sound across country in the night stirred dreams of glory. It now stirs thoughts of economic headaches, referees in bankruptcy, commuter protests, reduced schedules and shorter trips to the diner.

"I am expected to be the backbone of commerce. But the legislators and commissions seem to belong to an Anti-Backbone Club. I am a bulwark of transportation. But too many people think nothing is an authentic bulwark unless it has rubber tires, a horn and hot brakes.

"I am subject to more laws, regulations and rules by more states than I could shake a deficit at. I must buy and maintain my own right of way and give a Chautauqua salute to trucks wearing out highways by request. I am supposed to run passenger trains at a loss, keep commuters satisfied at my own expense and approach legislators hat in hand, on bended knee, extending a tin cup.

"I need appreciation and help but have to settle for 'Things are bad all over' and Congressional quartettes singing 'Any old port in a storm' I signal for a lifeline. But all I get is a few inches of thin rope COD.

Casey Jones, according to the old song looked at his watch and his watch was slow; he looked at the water and the water was low; he turned to his firemen and he said 'We're gonna reach Frisco but we'll all be dead.'

"Casey was lucky; he could afford a watch and nobody denied him water. His children had another popper on the Salt Lake line. I wish I could say as much for mine."

A flea can jump a distance of about a foot, although no higher than four or five inches. It is wingless and lives on almost all animals and birds.

The Weak Musketeer

Unions Aided By Report Law

By Victor Riesel

Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters' Union has so many attorneys, he appears to be running the nation's biggest law firm with a union attached. Thus there is the impression it is always high noon and he and Bob Kennedy are dueling in the sun. Not so. There is no vendetta. No one is picking on the teamsters. There is — thanks to the "goldfish bowl" Labor - Management Reporting and Disclosure Act — a constant federal surveying of some 52,300 unions, big and small, local and international.

Victor Riesel

Nobody is getting tough with anybody. But cases are being cracked by John Holcombe, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor - Management Reports and by his staff of many ex-FBI agents and IBM computers.

Between this division of the Labor Department and the Justice Department enough work has been done now, to startle the nation with a series of indictments.

THESE WILL make the headlines in New York City, Miami, several parts of Michigan and in points west.

These are still grand jury secrets. But enough is around to show that one president of a smaller international union has payed real fancy with almost $50,000 of the working Joe's funds. Others have been in more deals than a Las Vegas blackjack card handler. Others will be shown tied in with multi-million dollar loans out of pension funds.

Commissioner Holcombe is chary of discussing these. If he were more tight lipped he'd dissect the stem of his ubiquitous pipe. But he does open up enough to point out that at least 42,000 of the 52,300 reports filed in his "goldfish bowl" by local and international unions appear thoroughly accurate. The rest have been returned for further information.

He wants no impression given —and correct he is — which would indict the entire mass or impugn its honesty.

What should be disclosed is the value of the Reporting and Disclosure Act passed Sept. 14, 1959. Since then there have been 9,199 violations probed. Of these there have been 38 cases of embezzlement of union funds brought into the courts.

CONVICTIONS of 25 men resulted. They stole from their trade union brethren — from the men who trusted them. This is morally as well as criminally offensive. The sums have ranged from $43,000 to $13,000 and on down to $770. One case was acquitted, three dismissed and nine are pending.

There was much gnashing of teeth in some labor circles when the law was passed. But it has stood the clean unions in good stead — and has begun giving the infested ones long overdue doses.

No harm is done to a telegraphers' union or any impeccable union if the government finds a loner sticking grubby fingers into the dues receipts.

It saves them a scandal such as hit the United Mine Workers when the government arrested a district president on charges of involvement in the disappearance of almost $400,000 from an Eastern Pennsylvania bank. Earlier action could have nipped that one and not inflicted pain on John Lewis in this era of his life.

There also have been indictments of hod carrier officials, hotel union men, one in the woodworkers, the chemical union (not the one in Denver) and the papermakers.

THERE WAS a fascinating case involving an International Longshoremen's Association local official. This happened in Brooklyn, where a lot more than trees grow. There are some pier facilities there mighty vital to this land and distribution of goods to the Caribbean, Latin America and Europe—including military bases.

It is illegal for a waterfront local to permit an ex-felon to hold office if it wishes to collect dues. Yet Longshoremen's Local 1277 there had such a hood on its payroll. To conceal him, the local's president, Joe Colozzo, did not include the ex-convict's name on the report which must be filed with the labor - management "goldfish bowl" section. Colozzo, furthermore, inserted names of men who did not hold office.

Recently a three-court criminal "information" was filed in U.S. district court charging them with filing false papers with the secretary of labor; misrepresentation of facts and failing to disclose material facts.

All this information should have been correctly filed on Forms LM-1 and LM-2 — the Labor Organization Information Report and the Annual Financial Report. Such documents now can be seen in 24 regional offices throughout the country.

Which is as it should be — the people have the right to know.

Letters To The Editor

To the voters of East Liverpool: We would like to ask this question, "Would you like to see our American flag removed from the City Hall and put the Russian flag up?"

That to us is the same thing as destroying our votes. We voted the president of Council out, we still have him; we voted the tax out four times and now we have it again. Now can someone say and prove it that Mr. Khrushchev wasn't right when he said some day he would take America over? We think he has started in East Liverpool. When one man can tell a small group to pass something that has been voted down four times, that to us is a dictator.

We are going to do all in our power to help organize a party and see if the voters who are as disappointed as we are will help to get rid of these "dictators". We don't feel they are either Democrats or Republican, for never in history have we ever known either party to try to kill the people's votes. Up to now that can only be done in Russia.

When this tax is voted in by the people, we as American citizens will pay it whether we like it or not. But we will do everything to help destroy anything that is being put on as a dictator.

We are all smart enough to know our city needs something, but most of all we need new faces in the City Hall. Oh, we don't mean you Mr. Duffy. We know you are doing all you can. You know if you throw a rabbit in among a bunch of dogs, he hasn't much of a chance. Let us rise and show these few dictators that this is still America.

This is not our first letter and it won't be our last. We are not going to let the people forget this bunch of "dictators" and will continue to ask for help to get our town free of them.

A Cardinal's Story

By David Lawrence

Spellman's Biography Published

A new book has just been published which will certainly be widely talked about wherever the influence of religious groups in politics is discussed. It is an authorized biography of Cardinal Spellman. It tells for the first time the inside story of how and why, after a lapse of 33 years, relations were resumed in 1939 between the White House and the Vatican. It covers a period of 10 years during which the late Myron C. Taylor, formerly head of the U.S. Steel Corp. served as the personal envoy of the president of the United States to Pope Pius XII. Mr. Taylor, who had been appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, submitted his resignation to President Truman in 1950.

David Lawrence

The intimacy portrayed between the Vatican and President Roosevelt will doubtless cause some Catholic publications to repeat recent comments that a president who is a Protestant evidently can do some things to please Catholics of voting age that a president who, like Mr. Kennedy, happens to be a Catholic feels it would be unwise politically to do.

Whatever the comments may be, the fact is that the book, which was written by Father Robert I. Gannon, a former president of Fordham University, contains an authorized version of a very interesting chapter in American history.

Excerpts from Cardinal Spellman's diary and quotations from unpublished letters written by President Roosevelt to the Cardinal tell of a contact between dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church and the White House which has never been duplicated. In fact, the author of the book, after reviewing President Truman's unsuccessful attempt in 1950 to get Congress to establish diplomatic relations formally with the Vatican, says wistfully:

"And there the matter has rested ever since. Mr. Truman's successor, with no pressure from Catholic America, seemed satisfied with sleeping dogs; a policy that is not likely to be changed by the present administration."

IT WOULD APPEAR that some very good news stories were missed or suppressed at the White House in the 1930s. The Gannon book, for example, discloses an entry in the Spellman Diary on Feb. 16 and 17, 1937, as follows:

"Arrived in Washington at 1:15 in the midst of a snowstorm. James Rossevelt at train to meet me and bring me to White House where I was assigned to the Yellow Bedroom.

"We worked in his (the President's) office on speech that he is to deliver Saturday night over national hook-up urging Massachusetts to ratify child labor amendment. Had tea with President and he was wonderful. He made the cocktails before dinner. For dinner he had as guests Col. and Mrs. Watson, Commissioner and Mrs. Allen, James and Betsy Roosevelt, Miss Le Hand. We saw movies after supper. It was quite an experience.

"Said Mass (next day) in the Monroe Room of the White House. It was the first time Mass was ever said in the White House. Miss Le Hand, Miss Tully, Miss Eben and Miss Hackmeister present. Breakfast afterwards with them. The coffee cups were as large as bowls.

"Said goodbye to the President in bed. He said he had intended to get up for Mass."

The name of President Kennedy's father is mentioned in the chapter telling how informal relations with the Vatican were begun. The author says that Cardinal Spellman, who was then a bishop, suggested to Joseph P. Kennedy "that he mention to the President the possibility" of a representative to the Vatican, and "was delighted to learn from the account of the meeting that Roosevelt was sympathetic."

The author adds: "It was, however, the visit to Hyde Park of Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state at the Vatican, (later Pope Pius XII) that forged the most important link in the chain of events leading up to the final decision."

THE BOOK mentions the fact that the elder Kennedy, while U.S. ambassador to Great Britain, was appointed by President Roosevelt to act as his special representative at the coronation of Pope Pius XII.

Father Gannon writes that "it was another first, the first papal coronation at which the United States government had been officially represented." Bishop Spellman's diary says in this connection on March 17, 1939:

"Joe Kennedy phoned me from London expressing his joy at all that has taken place and the honors he has received from the Holy Father. He said Cardinal O'Connel (Boston) is against recognition of the Vatican by the U.S.A."

President Truman on Feb. 3, 1950, in a letter to Joseph Kennedy, wrote:

"It is indeed helpful to have all this background information concerning the origin of the Taylor mission from one who had so large and influential a part in the preliminary negotiations."

Most people today probably are not aware of the fact, as stated in the new book, that the United States and the Vatican have had quasi-diplomatic relations about eight times.

"The Cardinal Spellman Story," just published by Doubleday & Co., resembles in many respects the biography of the late Cardinal Gibbons, who died in 1921 at the age of 87 after an eventful career in the public eye.

The latter work, in two volumes — which was written by John Tracy Ellis, professor of American Church History at the Catholic University, and published in 1952 — tells the story of the eminent prelate's many contacts and friendship with Presidents Grover Cleveland and Theodore Roosevelt, which in those days also became subjects of political controversy.

The New Crop

By Truman Twill

The first lamb arrived during the night of March 5-6. It was dry and frisky at 6 a.m., so it must have been born about midnight.

The second was born about 24 hours later.

A confession is in order this year because something has gone out of the lambing routine that once made it the high point of the year.

The deepest satisfaction I expect to have this spring came from the obvious pleasure of a friend who sidled into the sheep business for the same reason we got into it at our place—to keep the grass mowed.

He had bad luck at first, including the worst luck a sheepman can have—sheep-killing dogs. But in the last year things have been shaping up neat and pretty. When he called me last Sunday to tell me his third set of twins in 24 hours had arrived, I went over to feel happy in his behalf.

It reminded me of the first lambs ever born at the Twillery. The lady I look at lamb-littered scenery with called me at the office to announce the news. I was scheduled to take in a free banquet that night, the one thing most nearly calculated to keep me from changing my mind.

This was different. I went home immediately to marvel at this miracle that was going on in our cobwebbed barn. There were triplets. But No. 3 never made it out of the birth sack. It was as if he had been packaged for delivery in a clear plastic bag that never had been opened.

Since then I have seen this unusual sight several times and have saved lambs that otherwise would have smothered a-borning. But the most unusual thing about these remarkable creatures is their ability to walk, run, jump and eat within a matter of a few minutes under normal conditions.

I picked up the second lamb of this year's crop so soon after it was born it hadn't stood up yet. It was still carrying the heat of its mother's body when I carried it to the "drying department" where infrared lights help evaporate moisture from the new lambs' tightly curled fleeces.

But it must be that I have seen it too often.

Years ago, I thought nothing of staying up all night for fear I'd miss something. Now I go to bed, unless it turns out to be a cold night. With sheep it isn't like it is with women, who can wake up the household in time to make the trip to the hospital.

I have speculated about a device that would ring a bell in the house, but I'm stuck on an important detail. I wouldn't know in advance which ewe to hook it up to.

It's getting on toward spring. When lambs arrive, can blossoms be far beehive . . . something like that.

Centenarian Will Be Given Scroll

Robert W. Sample of East Liverpool and St. Petersburg will be presented an illuminated parchment scroll from the First United Presbyterian Church, of which he is a life-time elder, when he observes his 100th birthday anniversary Thursday in the Florida city.

The framed scroll reads:

"With warm Christian love, the First United Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool, Ohio, greets you, Robert Wallace Sample Senior, on the one hundredth anniversary of your birth March 15, 1862. As thy days, so shall thy strength be. Deuteronomy 33:25."

Preparation of the illuminated scroll was done by Joseph Csejtey, art instructor at Westgate School. The Church Session authorized presentation of the scroll and Ogilvie was in charge of its preparation.

Councilman Sample will fly from Greater Pittsburgh Airport Wednesday at 3 p. m. to attend his father's birthday observance.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

How To Handle Tense Moments

It was late morning in a large hospital. Troubled by an irritating personal problem, the human being behind the surgeon's impassive expression showed stress. This was the setting of a dramatic experience recently related by Carl Holmes.

DR. PEALE

Heading toward the operating room, the surgeon found himself wishing that he might postpone this final operation of the day. The patient, a 21-year-old girl, was in critical condition and the operation would be a delicate and demanding one. He told himself that perhaps he ought to postpone it—tense as he felt.

But instantly he put the thought out of mind. He had a job to do and it couldn't be delayed. So he proceeded to wash, gown and make himself ready. Then something happened that took the tension from him.

THE PATIENT was wheeled in and an assistant prepared to administer the anesthetic. Looking into the strikingly beautiful face of the young woman on the operating table, the nurse wondered if the girl, so relaxed and smiling, realized the seriousness of her situation. "Breathe normally and count slowly," she directed in a kindly voice.

"Nurse, would you mind, if I said the 23rd Psalm before you give the anesthetic?" The nurse hesitated.

"Let her say it," said the surgeon. "It might do us all good."

In confident, sweet voice the patient repeated the dear old words: "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." And stillness enveloped the operating room.

"He maketh me to lie in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake..."

The silence deepened as she continued: "...Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me, Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me ..."

PAUSING IN his preparations the surgeon listened intently with the others. Those words, "He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul...really got through to him. Suddenly his tension disappeared. He felt not only peaceful but renewed and actually found himself rejoicing in the opportunity to help this fine girl.

Standing beside the operating table he looked down at her and said gently, "Young lady, God and you and I are going to take care of this little matter" — and they did, successfully.

The surgeon said he never before had realized that the best method for handling tension is simply to quit struggling and allow yourself confidently to be lead by a higher power, as the psalm says.

ACTUALLY WE should not allow ourselves to be upset or nervous. Surely God never meant us to live in constant nervous tension and under high pressure. Certainly we were not designed to crack up but, rather, to learn control and live peacefully. Trust is the answer to the crack-up.

Do you remember how when you were a little child your father took you by the hand and led you? When you get right down to it, all of us are still just children in this world which is full of complex problems. And God will indeed guide and lead if we put our trust in Him.

People who live by this simple faith learn for a fact that they may be guided by a power greater than themselves. I wonder if any human being can live successfully who nervously tries to cope with difficulties and problems entirely on his own. But when you have a calm sense of direction tension and stress are always lessened.

Those picturesque words "beside the still waters" help to siphon off tension. They refer to a deep pool of peace and serenity which should be in our minds. In this peace of mind one's being is quieted and thereby restrengthened.

The "still waters" attitude is very helpful in maintaining health, well-being and vitality. Strange how the familiar old Psalm is a basic secret for reducing those tensions which seem so prevalent today.

Let yourself be led "beside the still waters." Take the 23rd Psalm as a prescription when you feel tense and anxious.

The framed scroll reads:

"With warm Christian love, the First United Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool, Ohio, greets you, Robert Wallace Sample Senior, on the one hundredth anniversary of your birth March 15, 1862. As thy days, so shall thy strength be. Deuteronomy 33:25."

Preparation of the illuminated scroll was done by Joseph Csejtey, art instructor at Westgate School. The Church Session authorized presentation of the scroll and Ogilvie was in charge of its preparation.

Councilman Sample will fly from Greater Pittsburgh Airport Wednesday at 3 p. m. to attend his father's birthday observance.

The elder Sample was born at Samples Mills in Hampton Township, Allegheny County. He has made his home in this area since 1894. He operated an East Liverpool shoe store for 33 years, retiring in 1930. He resides at 600 30th St., N., St. Petersburg.

Confident Living

By Norman Vincent Peale

How To Handle Tense Moments

It was late morning in a large hospital. Troubled by an irritating personal problem, the human being behind the surgeon's impassive expression showed stress. This was the setting of a dramatic experience recently related by Carl Holmes.

DR. PEALE

Heading toward the operating room, the surgeon found himself wishing that he might postpone this final operation of the day. The patient, a 21-year-old girl, was in critical condition and the operation would be a delicate and demanding one. He told himself that perhaps he ought to postpone it—tense as he felt.

But instantly he put the thought out of mind. He had a job to do and it couldn't be delayed. So he proceeded to wash, gown and make himself ready. Then something happened that took the tension from him.

THE PATIENT was wheeled in and an assistant prepared to administer the anesthetic. Looking into the strikingly beautiful face of the young woman on the operating table, the nurse wondered if the girl, so relaxed and smiling, realized the seriousness of her situation. "Breathe normally and count slowly," she directed in a kindly voice.

"Nurse, would you mind, if I said the 23rd Psalm before you give the anesthetic?" The nurse hesitated.

"Let her say it," said the surgeon. "It might do us all good."

In confident, sweet voice the patient repeated the dear old words: "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." And stillness enveloped the operating room.

"He maketh me to lie in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake..."

The silence deepened as she continued: "...Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me, Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me ..."

PAUSING IN his preparations the surgeon listened intently with the others. Those words, "He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul..."really got through to him. Suddenly his tension disappeared. He felt not only peaceful but renewed and actually found himself rejoicing in the opportunity to help this fine girl.

Standing beside the operating table he looked down at her and said gently, "Young lady, God and you and I are going to take care of this little matter" — and they did, successfully.

The surgeon said he never before had realized that the best method for handling tension is simply to quit struggling and allow yourself confidently to be lead by a higher power, as the psalm says.

ACTUALLY WE should not allow ourselves to be upset or nervous. Surely God never meant us to live in constant nervous tension and under high pressure. Certainly we were not designed to crack up but, rather, to learn control and live peacefully. Trust is the answer to the crack-up.

Do you remember how when you were a little child your father took you by the hand and led you? When you get right down to it, all of us are still just children in this world which is full of complex problems. And God will indeed guide and lead if we put our trust in Him.

People who live by this simple faith learn for a fact that they may be guided by a power greater than themselves. I wonder if any human being can live successfully who nervously tries to cope with difficulties and problems entirely on his own. But when you have a calm sense of direction tension and stress are always lessened.

Those picturesque words "beside the still waters" help to siphon off tension. They refer to a deep pool of peace and serenity which should be in our minds. In this peace of mind one's being is quieted and thereby restrengthened.

The "still waters" attitude is very helpful in maintaining health, well-being and vitality. Strange how the familiar old Psalm is a basic secret for reducing those tensions which seem so prevalent today.

Let yourself be led "beside the still waters." Take the 23rd Psalm as a prescription when you feel tense and anxious.

NEWS NOTE

WARNING: U.S. INVADED

More than 4¼ million invade United States in past year!

Now scattered throughout every city, village, and farm. Totally dependent on others for every need.

None can read, write, or speak our language. They know nothing about any religion.

Similar invasion expected this year — and next. Immediate action imperative!

PARENTS, you are helping feed, clothe, and shelter these newcomers — the 4¼ million babies born last year. You will teach them to walk and talk, and how to live. Teach them, too, about God . . . give them a faith to live by.

Trained workers at your church are ready to help.

The future of your country — and your children — rests with you.

Join hands with your church to give them a faith, and a future — TODAY.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NEWS NOTE

WARNING: U.S. INVADED

More than 4¼ million invade United States in past year!

Now scattered throughout every city, village, and farm. Totally dependent on others for every need.

None can read, write, or speak our language. They know nothing about any religion.

Similar invasion expected this year — and next. Immediate action imperative!

PARENTS, you are helping feed, clothe, and shelter these newcomers — the 4¼ million babies born last year. You will teach them to walk and talk, and how to live. Teach them, too, about God . . . give them a faith to live by.

Trained workers at your church are ready to help.

The future of your country — and your children — rests with you.

Join hands with your church to give them a faith, and a future — TODAY.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Cincy-Bradley Battle Will Fill Last NCAA, NIT Berths

The Review Sports

SATURDAY, MARCH 10, 1962 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 10

Cage Giants Set For Tilt Monday

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Only one spot remained to be filled in both the NCAA and National Invitation Basketball tournament today—but it's probably the most important.

When Cincinnati and Bradley meet in a playoff for the Missouri Valley Championship Monday, the winner will head for the NCAA and the loser the NIT.

Cincinnati is the defending NCAA champion, having defeated Ohio State in last year's final. The NCAA is hoping the Bearcats and Buckeyes meet again.

Both St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Texas Tech gained NCAA spots Friday night. The Hawks won the Middle Atlantic Conference championship by defeating Temple 75-65 in Philadelphia. Texas Tech captured the Southwest Conference crown for the second straight year by outlasting Southern Methodist 71-67 in Fort Worth. Both were playoffs.

The NCAA college division postseason tournament moved into high gear on eight fronts from coast to coast. Defending champion Wittenberg turned back Gannon 69-43 and unbeaten Florida A&M rolled to its 26th straight victory, 74-60 over Youngstown in a doubleheader at Akron, Ohio.

Southern Illinois jumped a round ahead of the rest of the field with an 88-83 triumph over Evansville, to move into the quarter-finals.

St. Joseph's got a bye in the first round and will play next Friday the survivor of Monday's game between Wake Forest, Atlantic Coast Conference champion, and Yale, the Ivy League ruler.

Texas Tech will meet the Air Force Academy, an at-large entry, in the first round of the NCAA tournament in Dallas Monday.

Villanova, an at-large NCAA club, defeated La Salle 75-67 in Philadelphia before St. Joseph's and Temple took the floor.

In other major games, Stanford beat UCLA 82-67, Oregon State downed Oregon 65-48, California nipped Southern Calif. 61-60; Washington squeaked by Idaho 55-54, Tulane took Louisiana State 84-69 and Connecticut whipped Colgate 94-78.

Local All-Stars List Lake, Smith

The East Liverpool City League All-Stars were assured of a good scoring punch when two former college Little All-Americans were named to the squad for the Little Potters benefit game with the Salem All-Stars Wednesday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Herb Lake, who set scoring marks at Youngstown University and Big Jim Smith, who was a standout for Hank Kuzma at Steubenville College, will be in the East Liverpool lineup.

Lake performed for Bloor's Pharmacy in the City League this past season while Smith starred for the runnerup Wellsville five.

Along with Smith from Wellsville will be John Iams, an adept little guard, who was one of the leading scorers in the City League this past season.

Joining Lake from the Bloor's team, will be Carl Anderson, one of the top two scorers in the City Loop. Anderson was a standout at Midland High School and owns a deadly jump shot.

Other members of the 12-man squad will be named later. Keith Bishop will serve as coach of the All-Star outfit.

The East Liverpool-Salem game will be getting underway about 8:30 Wednesday after three Little Potter League championships are decided. In the opener at 7 p. m., McNutt's will meet Dawson's in the finals of the Sixth Grade tournament. The Seventh Grade finals between George Bright's and Police Dept. will begin at 7:15. The first two games will be sandwiched.

In the other contest, the Eighth Grade championship will be decided with Eason's battling the Andy Maistros five.

Beatty, Jones Divide Chicago Track Laurels

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Beatty registered his second sub-four-minute mile of the indoor track season and Hayes Jones bettered the American 60-yard high hurdle record to be the show-stoppers of the 26th annual Chicago Daily News Relays Friday night.

Their outstanding performances, plus an American record-lowering time by the University of Kansas two-mile relay team, drew cheers from a capacity crowd of 15,189 in Chicago Stadium.

Beatty, who became the first indoor miler to break the four-minute barrier last Feb. 10 with 3:58.9 in Los Angeles, took the mile in 3:59.7. On his heels, until he opened up a 12-yard gap to the finish, was 19-year-old Tom O'Hara, Loyola of Chicago sophomore. O'Hara was timed in 4:01.6.

East Germany's Siegfried Heermann ran an indoor mile in 3:59.9 shortly after Beatty's Los Angeles race.

Jones, former Eastern Michigan star and now a Detroit school teacher, rocketed the high-timbers in :06.9, clipping one-tenth second off his own American mark, which he had shared with Milt Campbell. Campbell, ex-Indiana ace, first set it in 1957.

Kansas overshadowed the relays competition with a blistering 7:30.8. This bettered the accepted two-mile baton record of 7:33.8 set by Manhattan College in 1961. The Kansas team was made up of Kirk Hagan, who sped the first half mile in 1:52.0; Tonni Coane, Bill Thornton and Bill Dotson, whose anchor leg was 1:51.1.

Pole vaulter John Uelses, who cleared 16 feet ¾ inch last month, missed on three chances with the bar at 15-4 ¾ and settled for 14-11 ¾. Henry Wadsworth of Army, the national AAU winner last month, won with 15-4 ¾.

"I wanted to go higher but I was taking too long with each jump," said Uelses. "My timing definitely was off and I had trouble with my steps."

Fisticuffs, Upsets Mark Ohio Play

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Free-for-all fisticuffs and a couple of upsets featured Friday night's high school district basketball play, but most of the favored quintets came through.

At Cincinnati, where Withrow defeated McNicholas 66 - 54 to reach the district finals, a 15-minute fight between players — with some spectators joining the melee — marred the evening.

And at Dayton, where seventh-ranked Chaminade ousted sixth-rated Roosevelt by 59-58 to win a berth in next week's Cincinnati Class AA regional, doors and windows were broken by some 2,000 fans unable to get into the Dayton University fieldhouse.

Police were called to quell both disturbances, and one Dayton spectator was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises.

The Cincinnati scrap started shortly after a McNicholas player was evicted in the second quarter for what the officials deemed an intentional foul. Shortly after his ouster, the player jumped from the bench to the court to protest that a foul by a Withrow player had not been called. That set it off, and players and fans joined in.

The redhot duel between Chaminade and Roosevelt, both in the Top 10 of the final Associated Press poll, drew an overflow crowd. The fieldhouse has a seating capacity of 5,808, but estimates were that 7,000 crowded inside and another 2,000 were locked out. The outsiders broke seven doors and several windows trying to gain entrance, fights broke out, and 12 police crews were called in.

On other fronts Canton Lincoln defeated Wooster 64-60 to win a berth in the Class AA Columbus regional; Columbus University trimmed Centerburg 63-55 to get a Class A berth at Troy, Circleville Logan Elm defeated Ridgedale 59-56 for an Athens regional spot, and Pymatuning Valley nicked Dalton 55-53 to get into the Canton regional.

The big upset came in Class A at Tiffin where seventh-ranked Fostoria St. Wendelin halted second-ranked Alger's 23-game winning streak, 48-43.

Ayersville's defending Class A champions — No. 1 in the state ratings — ran their victory streak to 24 with a 53-41 win over Hamler at Defiance.

Two oddities pop up in tonight's Class AA final pairings. Two Mansfield teams, Senior High with an 18-3 record and est. Peter with 24-0, clash at Marion. And two Lima teams, Senior High with 11-7 and Central Catholic with 15-7, must go to Bowling Green for their final tilt. Thus the hometown fans must travel far to see their teams.

Only 29 of the 500 Class A teams remain in the running, and that figure drops to 16 with tonight's games. Five of the Top 10 picked in the poll before the tournaments started are still in action — Ayersville (1), Irondale Stanton Local (3), Beverly Fort Frye (6), Fostoria St. Wendelin (7) and Carlisle (10).

Ayersville and Fostoria St. Wendelin, if they win tonight, go against each other in the Lima regional — but there's a chance four of the original Top 10 may make up the state finals quartet.

The 433-team Class AA contingent is down to 30 — and eight of the Top 10 remain. They are Cleveland East Tech (1), Hamilton Taft (2), Urbana (3), Mansfield St. Peter (4), Toledo Central (5), Dayton Chaminade (7), Salem (8) and Marietta (10). Four of them also could be in the state championship cast.

Weirton, Beckley Roll Past Tournament Foes

By The Associated Press

Form held true last night as most of the favorites advanced to the final rounds of regional high school basketball tournaments.

Undefeated Beckley and Weirton led the way in Class AAA. Defending champion New Martinsville kept winning in Class AA.

Tonight will see finals in all Class AAA regionals and in three of the four Class AA events. The Region 3-AA tournament at Bluefield couldn't get off the ground last night because of the weather and will open tonight. Finals will be played Monday.

Also on tap tonight are the Area playoffs in Class A to select the four entries in next week's state tournament at Morgantown.

Beckley won its 22nd straight game without a loss by downing Princeton 90-61 in Region 3-AAA at Fayetteville. The Flying Eagles meet East Bank in tonight's title game. East Bank gained the finals with a victory over Welch Thursday night.

Bane Sarrett, Beckley's scoring leader, scored 17 points in last night's victory although still hobbled by a sprained ankle. He played a little more than half the contest. Bill Karbonit also scored 17 for the Eagles.

Weirton showed its class by smashing Clarksburg Victory 78-43. The Red Riders, also 22-0, ran up a 17-2 lead in the first quarter and breezed home, Terone Gregory led the way with 19 points.

Moundsville continued its late-season spurt by beating Point Pleasant 70-66 to gain the post opposite Weirton in tonight's Region 1-AA finals at Parkersburg. John Hummel tossed in 27 points to pace the Trojans.

In Region 2-AAA at Buckhannon, favored Elkins finished strong to down darkhorse Fairmont West 70-63. Richwood ousted Martinsburg 69-54 in the other semi-final contest.

South Charleston got 54 points from Ronnie Kidd and Sparky Kessinger to roll over Huntington East 86-81 in Region 4-AAA play at Huntington. The 6-6 Kidd scored 29 and Kessinger came up with 15 of his 25 in the late stages to kill an East rally. Jim Odum tallied 28 for the Highlanders.

Logan built up a comfortable lead early and coasted to a 63-55 victory over Nitro in the other 4-AAA contest. Roger Hainer's 32 points led the aggressive Wildcats.

In Class AA, New Martinsville had to go all out for a 49-42 victory over Morgantown University.

WVU-Villanova Game To Be Carried On TV

WHEELING (AP) — The West Virginia - Villanova basketball game Monday night in the NCAA playoffs at Philadelphia will be carried by six West Virginia television stations.

The telecast will be originated by WTRF-TV, Wheeling, at 7:30 with George Diab doing the play-by-play.

Wrestler Waits Finals Tonight In South Side Bid

Wilbur King, South Side High School junior, goes into the WPIAL Section 3 wrestling finals tonight at Canonsburg High by virtue of his win over William Anderson of Trinity High Friday night.

Matched in the 180-pound class, he pinned Anderson in the second period, 2:31.

South Side's second entry, William Miscuk, lost a 8-3 decision to Tom Simms of Trinity in the 133-pound class last night.

The two South Siders were survivors of a team of 11, whose other members were eliminated in the preliminaries March 2 and 3.

Fight Results

Los Angeles — Davey Moore, 132, Columbus, Ohio, knocked out Cisco Andrade, 135, San Jacinto, Calif., 7 (non-title).

Honolulu — L.C. Morgan, 145, Youngstown, Ohio, and Rocky Kalingo, Manila, drew, 10.

Cincy-Bradley Battle Will Fill Last NCAA, NIT Berths

The Review Sports

SATURDAY, MARCH 10, 1962 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 10

Cage Giants Set For Tilt Monday

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Only one spot remained to be filled in both the NCAA and National Invitation Basketball tournament today—but it's probably the most important.

When Cincinnati and Bradley meet in a playoff for the Missouri Valley Championship Monday, the winner will head for the NCAA and the loser the NIT.

Cincinnati is the defending NCAA champion, having defeated Ohio State in last year's final. The NCAA is hoping the Bearcats and Buckeyes meet again.

Both St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and Texas Tech gained NCAA spots Friday night. The Hawks won the Middle Atlantic Conference championship by defeating Temple 75-65 in Philadelphia. Texas Tech captured the Southwest Conference crown for the second straight year by outlasting Southern Methodist 71-67 in Fort Worth. Both were playoffs.

The NCAA college division postseason tournament moved into high gear on eight fronts from coast to coast. Defending champion Wittenberg turned back Gannon 69-43 and unbeaten Florida A&M rolled to its 26th straight victory, 74-60 over Youngstown in a doubleheader at Akron, Ohio.

Southern Illinois jumped a round ahead of the rest of the field with an 88-83 triumph over Evansville, to move into the quarter-finals.

St. Joseph's got a bye in the first round and will play next Friday the survivor of Monday's game between Wake Forest, Atlantic Coast Conference champion, and Yale, the Ivy League ruler.

Texas Tech will meet the Air Force Academy, an at-large entry, in the first round of the NCAA tournament in Dallas Monday.

Villanova, an at-large NCAA club, defeated La Salle 75-67 in Philadelphia before St. Joseph's and Temple took the floor.

In other major games, Stanford beat UCLA 82-67, Oregon State downed Oregon 65-48, California nipped Southern Calif. 61-60; Washington squeaked by Idaho 55-54, Tulane took Louisiana State 84-69 and Connecticut whipped Colgate 94-78.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Free-for-all fisticuffs and a couple of upsets featured Friday night's high school district basketball play, but most of the favored quintets came through.

At Cincinnati, where Withrow defeated McNicholas 66 - 54 to reach the district finals, a 15-minute fight between players — with some spectators joining the melee — marred the evening.

And at Dayton, where seventh-ranked Chaminade ousted sixth-rated Roosevelt by 59-58 to win a berth in next week's Cincinnati Class AA regional, doors and windows were broken by some 2,000 fans unable to get into the Dayton University fieldhouse.

Police were called to quell both disturbances, and one Dayton spectator was treated at the hospital for cuts and bruises.

The Cincinnati scrap started shortly after a McNicholas player was evicted in the second quarter for what the officials deemed an intentional foul. Shortly after his ouster, the player jumped from the bench to the court to protest that a foul by a Withrow player had not been called. That set it off, and players and fans joined in.

The redhot duel between Chaminade and Roosevelt, both in the Top 10 of the final Associated Press poll, drew an overflow crowd. The fieldhouse has a seating capacity of 5,808, but estimates were that 7,000 crowded inside and another 2,000 were locked out. The outsiders broke seven doors and several windows trying to gain entrance, fights broke out, and 12 police crews were called in.

On other fronts Canton Lincoln defeated Wooster 64-60 to win a berth in the Class AA Columbus regional; Columbus University trimmed Centerburg 63-55 to get a Class A berth at Troy, Circleville Logan Elm defeated Ridgedale 59-56 for an Athens regional spot, and Pymatuning Valley nicked Dalton 55-53 to get into the Canton regional.

The big upset came in Class A at Tiffin where seventh-ranked Fostoria St. Wendelin halted second-ranked Alger's 23-game winning streak, 48-43.

Ayersville's defending Class A champions — No. 1 in the state ratings — ran their victory streak to 24 with a 53-41 win over Hamler at Defiance.

Two oddities pop up in tonight's Class AA final pairings. Two Mansfield teams, Senior High with an 18-3 record and est. Peter with 24-0, clash at Marion. And two Lima teams, Senior High with 11-7 and Central Catholic with 15-7, must go to Bowling Green for their final tilt. Thus the hometown fans must travel far to see their teams.

Only 29 of the 500 Class A teams remain in the running, and that figure drops to 16 with tonight's games. Five of the Top 10 picked in the poll before the tournaments started are still in action — Ayersville (1), Irondale Stanton Local (3), Beverly Fort Frye (6), Fostoria St. Wendelin (7) and Carlisle (10).

Ayersville and Fostoria St. Wendelin, if they win tonight, go against each other in the Lima regional — but there's a chance four of the original Top 10 may make up the state finals quartet.

The 433-team Class AA contingent is down to 30 — and eight of the Top 10 remain. They are Cleveland East Tech (1), Hamilton Taft (2), Urbana (3), Mansfield St. Peter (4), Toledo Central (5), Dayton Chaminade (7), Salem (8) and Marietta (10). Four of them also could be in the state championship cast.

Weirton, Beckley Roll Past Tournament Foes

By The Associated Press

Form held true last night as most of the favorites advanced to the final rounds of regional high school basketball tournaments.

Undefeated Beckley and Weirton led the way in Class AAA. Defending champion New Martinsville kept winning in Class AA.

Tonight will see finals in all Class AAA regionals and in three of the four Class AA events. The Region 3-AA tournament at Bluefield couldn't get off the ground last night because of the weather and will open tonight. Finals will be played Monday.

Also on tap tonight are the Area playoffs in Class A to select the four entries in next week's state tournament at Morgantown.

Beckley won its 22nd straight game without a loss by downing Princeton 90-61 in Region 3-AAA at Fayetteville. The Flying Eagles meet East Bank in tonight's title game. East Bank gained the finals with a victory over Welch Thursday night.

Bane Sarrett, Beckley's scoring leader, scored 17 points in last night's victory although still hobbled by a sprained ankle. He played a little more than half the contest. Bill Karbonit also scored 17 for the Eagles.

Weirton showed its class by smashing Clarksburg Victory 78-43. The Red Riders, also 22-0, ran up a 17-2 lead in the first quarter and breezed home, Terone Gregory led the way with 19 points.

Moundsville continued its late-season spurt by beating Point Pleasant 70-66 to gain the post opposite Weirton in tonight's Region 1-AA finals at Parkersburg. John Hummel tossed in 27 points to pace the Trojans.

In Region 2-AAA at Buckhannon, favored Elkins finished strong to down darkhorse Fairmont West 70-63. Richwood ousted Martinsburg 69-54 in the other semi-final contest.

South Charleston got 54 points from Ronnie Kidd and Sparky Kessinger to roll over Huntington East 86-81 in Region 4-AAA play at Huntington. The 6-6 Kidd scored 29 and Kessinger came up with 15 of his 25 in the late stages to kill an East rally. Jim Odum tallied 28 for the Highlanders.

Logan built up a comfortable lead early and coasted to a 63-55 victory over Nitro in the other 4-AAA contest. Roger Hainer's 32 points led the aggressive Wildcats.

In Class AA, New Martinsville had to go all out for a 49-42 victory over Morgantown University.

Local All-Stars List Lake, Smith

The East Liverpool City League All-Stars were assured of a good scoring punch when two former college Little All-Americans were named to the squad for the Little Potters benefit game with the Salem All-Stars Wednesday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Herb Lake, who set scoring marks at Youngstown University and Big Jim Smith, who was a standout for Hank Kuzma at Steubenville College, will be in the East Liverpool lineup.

Lake performed for Bloor's Pharmacy in the City League this past season while Smith starred for the runnerup Wellsville five.

Along with Smith from Wellsville will be John Iams, an adept little guard, who was one of the leading scorers in the City League this past season.

Joining Lake from the Bloor's team, will be Carl Anderson, one of the top two scorers in the City Loop. Anderson was a standout at Midland High School and owns a deadly jump shot.

Other members of the 12-man squad will be named later. Keith Bishop will serve as coach of the All-Star outfit.

The East Liverpool-Salem game will be getting underway about 8:30 Wednesday after three Little Potter League championships are decided. In the opener at 7 p. m., McNutt's will meet Dawson's in the finals of the Sixth Grade tournament. The Seventh Grade finals between George Bright's and Police Dept. will begin at 7:15. The first two games will be sandwiched.

In the other contest, the Eighth Grade championship will be decided with Eason's battling the Andy Maistros five.

Beatty, Jones Divide Chicago Track Laurels

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Beatty registered his second sub-four-minute mile of the indoor track season and Hayes Jones bettered the American 60-yard high hurdle record to be the show-stoppers of the 26th annual Chicago Daily News Relays Friday night.

Their outstanding performances, plus an American record-lowering time by the University of Kansas two-mile relay team, drew cheers from a capacity crowd of 15,189 in Chicago Stadium.

Beatty, who became the first indoor miler to break the four-minute barrier last Feb. 10 with 3:58.9 in Los Angeles, took the mile in 3:59.7. On his heels, until he opened up a 12-yard gap to the finish, was 19-year-old Tom O'Hara, Loyola of Chicago sophomore. O'Hara was timed in 4:01.6.

East Germany's Siegfried Heermann ran an indoor mile in 3:59.9 shortly after Beatty's Los Angeles race.

Jones, former Eastern Michigan star and now a Detroit school teacher, rocketed the high-timbers in :06.9, clipping one-tenth second off his own American mark, which he had shared with Milt Campbell. Campbell, ex-Indiana ace, first set it in 1957.

Kansas overshadowed the relays competition with a blistering 7:30.8. This bettered the accepted two-mile baton record of 7:33.8 set by Manhattan College in 1961. The Kansas team was made up of Kirk Hagan, who sped the first half mile in 1:52.0; Tonni Coane, Bill Thornton and Bill Dotson, whose anchor leg was 1:51.1.

Pole vaulter John Uelses, who cleared 16 feet ¾ inch last month, missed on three chances with the bar at 15-4 ¾ and settled for 14-11 ¾. Henry Wadsworth of Army, the national AAU winner last month, won with 15-4 ¾.

"I wanted to go higher but I was taking too long with each jump," said Uelses. "My timing definitely was off and I had trouble with my steps."

Wrestler Waits Finals Tonight In South Side Bid

Wilbur King, South Side High School junior, goes into the WPIAL Section 3 wrestling finals tonight at Canonsburg High by virtue of his win over William Anderson of Trinity High Friday night.

Matched in the 180-pound class, he pinned Anderson in the second period, 2:31.

South Side's second entry, William Miscuk, lost a 8-3 decision to Tom Simms of Trinity in the 133-pound class last night.

The two South Siders were survivors of a team of 11, whose other members were eliminated in the preliminaries March 2 and 3.

Fight Results

Los Angeles — Davey Moore, 132, Columbus, Ohio, knocked out Cisco Andrade, 135, San Jacinto, Calif., 7 (non-title).

Honolulu — L.C. Morgan, 145, Youngstown, Ohio, and Rocky Kalingo, Manila, drew, 10.

They Walked With Christ

MARY
The Mother

"And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary."

—Luke 1:26,27

Mary, the mother of Jesus, was referred to by the Jews as the daughter of Eli; but early Christian writers called her the daughter of Joakim and Anna.

She was related by marriage to Elizabeth, the wife of Zacharias, the priest.

The fact that she was already with child when she was married to Joseph made her an object of much ridicule by her contemporaries, who did not believe in her accounts of a visitation from Gabriel, nor of the annunciation that she was to become the virgin mother of the Messiah.

The story connected with the birth of Jesus, the flight into Egypt, and the presentation of her Son at the Temple are all related in full in the Gospels.

Mary's profound thoughtfulness and maternal love are indicated in the New Testament account, which says that "his mother kept all these things in her heart."

Perhaps no mother in history suffered the long travail for her son, as Mary in her deep concern for Jesus, from the night of His birth in Bethlehem to the final tragic night of Golgatha.

Scripture mentions her only four times following the reappearance of Jesus and the beginnings of His ministry after 18 years of absence or silence.

The first is the marriage at Cana in Galilee, at which she was present with her Son. The second was at Jerusalem at the last Passover, observed by Jesus. The third was at the foot of the Cross, when Jesus committed her to the care of John, His beloved disciple with the words, "Woman, behold thy son,"; and to John, "Behold thy Mother."

Finally, in the days following the Ascension, Mary met with the faithful disciples in the upper room, where they "all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication."

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie

Some call it the "No Club." No clergymen are members, there are no dues, no elections, no outside activities. Yet, the Bible Reading Breakfast Group of San Francisco affirms spirituality as well as good fellowship. For 18 years, Protestants, Catholics, Jews and "not-so-sures" have met to read and discuss the Bible before going to work. Among the 300 members are judges, politicians, a coach, sculptor and governor of the state. Members must arise at 5 or 6 a.m. on Thursdays to make the 7 o'clock meetings in the Olympic athletic club. "We don't talk about results," a former city supervisor member told me, "but the man you won't cross the street with before the meeting may be the man you walk away with afterwards."

They Walked With Christ

MARY
The Mother

"And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary."

—Luke 1:26,27

Mary, the mother of Jesus, was referred to by the Jews as the daughter of Eli; but early Christian writers called her the daughter of Joakim and Anna.

She was related by marriage to Elizabeth, the wife of Zacharias, the priest.

The fact that she was already with child when she was married to Joseph made her an object of much ridicule by her contemporaries, who did not believe in her accounts of a visitation from Gabriel, nor of the annunciation that she was to become the virgin mother of the Messiah.

The story connected with the birth of Jesus, the flight into Egypt, and the presentation of her Son at the Temple are all related in full in the Gospels.

Mary's profound thoughtfulness and maternal love are indicated in the New Testament account, which says that "his mother kept all these things in her heart."

Perhaps no mother in history suffered the long travail for her son, as Mary in her deep concern for Jesus, from the night of His birth in Bethlehem to the final tragic night of Golgatha.

Scripture mentions her only four times following the reappearance of Jesus and the beginnings of His ministry after 18 years of absence or silence.

The first is the marriage at Cana in Galilee, at which she was present with her Son. The second was at Jerusalem at the last Passover, observed by Jesus. The third was at the foot of the Cross, when Jesus committed her to the care of John, His beloved disciple with the words, "Woman, behold thy son,"; and to John, "Behold thy Mother."

Finally, in the days following the Ascension, Mary met with the faithful disciples in the upper room, where they "all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication."

The Power Of Faith

by Howard Brodie

Some call it the "No Club." No clergymen are members, there are no dues, no elections, no outside activities. Yet, the Bible Reading Breakfast Group of San Francisco affirms spirituality as well as good fellowship. For 18 years, Protestants, Catholics, Jews and "not-so-sures" have met to read and discuss the Bible before going to work. Among the 300 members are judges, politicians, a coach, sculptor and governor of the state. Members must arise at 5 or 6 a.m. on Thursdays to make the 7 o'clock meetings in the Olympic athletic club. "We don't talk about results," a former city supervisor member told me, "but the man you won't cross the street with before the meeting may be the man you walk away with afterwards."

1 Killed, 7 Injured In 2-Car Collision

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—A head-on collision between two cars on Ohio 14 in nearby Streetsboro Township killed one person and injured seven others today, Portage County sheriff's deputies reported.

Dead is Levi Lardell, 21, of Twinsburg.

Six persons were in Robinson Memorial Hospital here, three in serious condition and two in critical condition. A seventh person was treated and released.

Among those hospitalized are three Twinsburg youths who were passengers in the car driven by Lardell: Taylor Dancy, 18, in serious condition; Willie Coleman, 19, serious; and Charles Mitchell, 18, who suffered possible fractured ribs and ankle.

Injured in the other car were Rita Vierling, 24, of Bedford Heights, critical; Oliver D. Howard, 34, of Ravenna, serious; and Alice Artrup, 21, of Hudson, critical.

2 Killed, 3 Injured In Head-On Collision

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—Two cars collided head-on on U.S. 20 in nearby Carlisle Twp. Friday night killing two Elyria teen-agers and injuring three other persons.

The dead were identified as Danny Opdyke, 15, and Barbara Cooper, 14.

They were riding with Denny Cook, 18, of Elyria, but sheriff's deputies were unable to say who was driving. Cook was admitted to a hospital in poor condition with internal injuries.

Also hospitalized were Jack Kelly, 34, and Mrs. Eugene Williams, 35, both of Newark. They were in a car driven by the injured woman's husband, who waited at the accident scene for police.

2 IN MEMORIAM

OUR sudden loss, the death of our beloved husband and stepfather, Wm. F. Buzzard, has left an emptiness in our hearts, that can never be wholly filled, but the many kind words and acts of sympathy from our friends and relatives have helped immeasurably. We are deeply grateful to Dr. Horger, the Grant District Burial Group, Rev. Charles D. Vogel, and Alvin Arner. Mrs. Mary Buzzard, Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Bell and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Murray and family.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE OCEAN

QUESTION: What is the deepest point in the ocean?

ANSWER: This is a spot called the Kermadec trench. It is in the southern part of the Pacific Ocean. The Kermadec trench is so deep that if you could pick up Mt. Everest, the highest mountain in the world, and drop it into this trench, the mountain would be completely covered by water. The deepest point in the Atlantic Ocean is near Puerto Rico, and it is called the Milwaukee Depth. There is a great deal more ocean than there is dry land. The ocean floor contains almost any natural structure found on the land. There are canyons in the ocean. One is right in the Hudson River near New York City. Many of the mountains in the oceans are volcanoes, either active or inactive ones. Islands found in the oceans, such as the famous ones of the South Pacific, are mostly the peaks of these volcanoes or of other ocean mountains. Sometimes these volcanoes erupt, which causes a terrible stir on the island, as it is sometimes uninhabitable for many years afterward.

FOR YOU TO DO: Much of what we know about the ocean was discovered by deep-sea divers, outfitted in diving suits or snugly relaxed in bathospheres. See what you can find out about these two types of protection for men under the sea.

Greg Babigian of Paramus, N. J., wins $10 for this question. Send your question on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. Is it necessary that I clean and wash out a paintbrush if I am going to use it again on the same job the following day?

A. No; all you have to do is protect the bristles of the brush from the air, and you can do this by wrapping them tightly in some aluminum foil, twisting and shaping the end of the sheet around the brush handle. This will prevent the paint in the bristles from hardening.

Q. How can I slip on my rubber gloves more easily?

A. Keep a salt shaker of cornstarch handy, and sprinkle a little on the hands before donning your gloves. Cornstarch will not cake, as talcum powder is prone to do.

Q. What is the best way to caramelize sugar?

A. In a dry skillet in the oven. In this way, it heats from the bottom and the top at the same time, caramelizing quickly and smoothly.

Q. How can I put a high polish on some of my furniture?

A. Saturate a cloth with equal parts of lemon oil and turpentine, and go over the entire surface of each piece of furniture. Wipe off the excess oil with a damp cloth, and polish with a woolen cloth until you're looking at yourself in the mirror-like surface you have produced.

Q. How can I improvise some white ink for writing in a black photo album, when the real thing is not around?

A. White shoe polish makes a good substitute. Shake the bottle well, dip the pen into it, and you'll often find that this writes even more clearly than white ink itself.

Q. How can I keep my children's tennis shoes clean and free of odor?

A. You can accomplish this easily by dropping them into the washing machine (not automatic). First remove the strings, then put both shoes and strings into the machine full of warm, not hot, soapy water for a short run. Rinse them in clear water, and hang on the line to dry.

How Can I?

Q. Is it necessary that I clean and wash out a paintbrush if I am going to use it again on the same job the following day?

A. No; all you have to do is protect the bristles of the brush from the air, and you can do this by wrapping them tightly in some aluminum foil, twisting and shaping the end of the sheet around the brush handle. This will prevent the paint in the bristles from hardening.

Q. How can I slip on my rubber gloves more easily?

A. Keep a salt shaker of cornstarch handy, and sprinkle a little on the hands before donning your gloves. Cornstarch will not cake, as talcum powder is prone to do.

Q. What is the best way to caramelize sugar?

A. In a dry skillet in the oven. In this way, it heats from the bottom and the top at the same time, caramelizing quickly and smoothly.

Q. How can I put a high polish on some of my furniture?

A. Saturate a cloth with equal parts of lemon oil and turpentine, and go over the entire surface of each piece of furniture. Wipe off the excess oil with a damp cloth, and polish with a woolen cloth until you're looking at yourself in the mirror-like surface you have produced.

Junior Editors Quiz on

THE OCEAN

QUESTION: What is the deepest point in the ocean?

ANSWER: This is a spot called the Kermadec trench. It is in the southern part of the Pacific Ocean. The Kermadec trench is so deep that if you could pick up Mt. Everest, the highest mountain in the world, and drop it into this trench, the mountain would be completely covered by water. The deepest point in the Atlantic Ocean is near Puerto Rico, and it is called the Milwaukee Depth. There is a great deal more ocean than there is dry land. The ocean floor contains almost any natural structure found on the land. There are canyons in the ocean. One is right in the Hudson River near New York City. Many of the mountains in the oceans are volcanoes, either active or inactive ones. Islands found in the oceans, such as the famous ones of the South Pacific, are mostly the peaks of these volcanoes or of other ocean mountains. Sometimes these volcanoes erupt, which causes a terrible stir on the island, as it is sometimes uninhabitable for many years afterward.

FOR YOU TO DO: Much of what we know about the ocean was discovered by deep-sea divers, outfitted in diving suits or snugly relaxed in bathospheres. See what you can find out about these two types of protection for men under the sea.

Election Set By Lions Club

Arrangements for the annual election of officers of the Lions Club have been made by the nominating committee.

The election will be held Friday, April 13, the committee of Howard Tice, Earl Lones and Don Baxter said.

Traditionally, the president and first two vice presidents automatically advance to the next higher office.

James Johnston is slated to become president; Jack Smith, first vice president, and Laurin Stacey, second vice president.

The other nominations include Edward Custer and Richard Judge, third vice president; Don Duke, secretary; Charles Haugh, treasurer; Ed Shingler and Fred Yonz, tail twister; Robert Talbott and Ed Sheets, Lion Tamer, and Clarence Wright, William Kozel, Dr. John A. Fraser, Dr. Myer Alpern, Christ Pallis and Don Wolfe as directors with three to be elected.

Additional nominations also can be made from the floor.

A color film on Glacier National Park in the Montana Rockies was screened by Harold Howard at the club's meeting Friday afternoon at the Travelers Hotel. It was produced by the Great Northern Railway.

Howard Tice was program chairman and Charles Herman, president, presided.

40 Attend Course Of Boating Unit

About 40 attended the seventh lesson on aids to navigation, locks and dams, at a meeting of the local Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 7 Thursday evening in the IBOP Hall.

Paul Shively, vice captain, and George Muth, division training officer, were introduced by Bill Keim, local training officer.

Slides were screened showing the different buoys, their colors and what they stand for in steering through shallow or dangerous waters. Slides were shown of locks and dams.

Locks and dams were discussed. Capt. Shively explained the proper procedure for entering and leaving locks on the Ohio and Allegheny rivers. He displayed a scale model of a lock on which the different lights were displayed.

Lee Veltum, commander of the Pittsburgh Flotilla, will be the instructor for next Thursday's lesson. The lesson will deal with safety and rules of the road.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Wrist, Glove Size Indicate Structure

It's a healthy sign when a woman who is less than 10 pounds overweight takes measures to reverse the up-trend and hold the desirable weight line. A woman writes:

Ida Jean Kain

"Won't you help those of us who are only slightly overweight? I am 5 feet 4 tall. I did weigh 138 pounds, and now weigh 134 pounds. I've always felt I was of medium frame, but now I'm puzzled. A relative keeps insisting, I am large 'boned' and points out that I carry my weight well and should not reduce. How can one tell one's frame? I have a 6-inch wrist, is this a clue?

"My husband agrees that I should weigh a little less. Actually I do hide most of my excess by wearing a very good foundation garment and clothes with slimming lines.

BUT WHEN swim suit season comes I know I cannot play 'hide and seek' with the bulges, so I want to take diet and exercise action now."

Well, cheers for you! Prevention of overweight is just what the doctors order for millions of Americans todey. How much better to take off four extra pounds than to gain four more.

It's difficult to think of it this way, but all the people who are now in the heavyweight class at one time weighed a mere four to eight pounds above their best weight.

About framework: Many of you write that you are puzzled when it comes to judging the size of your frame. In that case, settle for medium. The wrist is a good gauge of one's frame, for this is mostly bone. . .there is not much fat on the wrist.

A six inch wrist indicates a medium frame. A wrist that is less than six inches goes with a small frame, and six and a half to seven with a large frame.

Another gauge is glove size. In general, women wearing gloves size six or smaller, have a small frame. If your glove size is six and a half to seven, your frame can be considered medium. Women who require glove size larger than seven have a large frame.

On the weight score: While there is no exact pound at which weight is ideal, there is a zone within which your weight is right for your build. Use this rule of thumb: allow 100, 105, or 110 pounds for the first 5 feet of height, depending on whether your frame is slight, medium or large. Then add 5 pounds for each inch by which your height exceeds 5 feet.

HEIGHT IS computed without shoes, weight without clothing.

For the normal and near normal weight, here is the best possible health and beauty rule: Don't overeat. . .don't under-exercise.

Domestic Help's Social Security Requires Report

The Social Security Administration's Youngstown office reminded today that domestic workers who are paid as much as $50 cash in a calendar quarter from a single employer can receive Social Security credit for their earnings.

But to get the credit, their earnings must be reported. Employers must make a quarterly report to Internal Revenue Service when they pay a domestic worker as much as $50 cash wages in the quarter. These reports should be filed after the close of each calendar quarter and are due by April 30, July 31, Oct. 31 and Jan. 31 every year.

Most household employers will make their reports on Form 942. This is a special simplified form printed on the inside of a return envelope. If a household employer is already on the mailing list of the district director of Internal Revenue, one of these forms will be mailed before the end of December. If Social Security taxes are due from a household employer who is not now on the mailing list, the employer should ask the district director for the form and give him her name and address to be added to the mailing list before the next quarterly return is due.

The amount of the Social Security tax is 6¼ per cent of the total cash wages paid to a household worker in a calendar quarter. The employe is expected to share this tax with the employer. However, it is the obligation of the employer to report and send the total tax of 6¼ per cent to the district director of Internal Revenue. The $50 cash wage test applies separately to each household worker and no report or Social Security tax is due on any household worker paid less than $50 cash during the calendar quarter.

The local Social Security office is in the Post Office and the Internal Revenue office is on the second floor of the Erlanger building.

Where possible, each student will attend two conferences during the week. Following the talks from the business leaders, a question-and-answer period will be held.

Financial Help Sought For Potters In Strike

The Executive Board of the Inetrnational Brotherhood of Operative Potters said Friday it has sanctioned an appeal throughout the trade for financial support for Local Union 72 in its strike against the Peerless Pottery Co. of Evansville, Ind., a manufacturer of sanitary ware.

The strike is in its third week and no settlement is in sight, the IBOP said. The local said its members voted to strike rather than "deal with a company that has such dictatorial views about its employes."

The IBOP also announced settlement of a strike by members of Local 313 against the plant of Alliance Ware, Inc., at Somerset, Pa. It also is a sanitary plant. A new agreement has been reached, ending the four-week strike, but details were not available immediately on the terms, the union said.

Lack Of License Costs Youth 2nd Sentence In Jail

A 19-year-old Beechwood youth was sentenced to jail for the second time in less than two months when he pleaded guilty Friday before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of driving after his operator's license had been suspended.

He is James Lee Kraft, 233 Center St., arrested at 10:40 a.m. Thursday on Center St. while operating a motorcycle, police said. Judge Chertoff imposed a 30-day County Jail term on the charge filed by Patrolmen E. R. Furgason and F. K. Heddleston.

The judge pointed out Kraft was given a 10-day jail term Jan. 12 on a charge of driving without a license. He was arrested twice in 1961 on reckless driving charges, the judge added. One charge led to a 30-day jail term and in the other case he was fined $50 and costs.

Police said Kraft later lost his driver's license under Ohio's 12-point "demerit" system.

"What am I going to do to convince you that you cannot drive without a license?" the judge asked Kraft. The youth said he is unemployed and is supported by his parents.

"I'm going to save them some money for awhile," the judge said, imposing the jail sentence.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Wrist, Glove Size Indicate Structure

It's a healthy sign when a woman who is less than 10 pounds overweight takes measures to reverse the up-trend and hold the desirable weight line. A woman writes:

Ida Jean Kain

"Won't you help those of us who are only slightly overweight? I am 5 feet 4 tall. I did weigh 138 pounds, and now weigh 134 pounds. I've always felt I was of medium frame, but now I'm puzzled. A relative keeps insisting, I am large 'boned' and points out that I carry my weight well and should not reduce. How can one tell one's frame? I have a 6-inch wrist, is this a clue?

"My husband agrees that I should weigh a little less. Actually I do hide most of my excess by wearing a very good foundation garment and clothes with slimming lines.

BUT WHEN swim suit season comes I know I cannot play 'hide and seek' with the bulges, so I want to take diet and exercise action now."

Well, cheers for you! Prevention of overweight is just what the doctors order for millions of Americans todey. How much better to take off four extra pounds than to gain four more.

It's difficult to think of it this way, but all the people who are now in the heavyweight class at one time weighed a mere four to eight pounds above their best weight.

About framework: Many of you write that you are puzzled when it comes to judging the size of your frame. In that case, settle for medium. The wrist is a good gauge of one's frame, for this is mostly bone. . .there is not much fat on the wrist.

A six inch wrist indicates a medium frame. A wrist that is less than six inches goes with a small frame, and six and a half to seven with a large frame.

Another gauge is glove size. In general, women wearing gloves size six or smaller, have a small frame. If your glove size is six and a half to seven, your frame can be considered medium. Women who require glove size larger than seven have a large frame.

On the weight score: While there is no exact pound at which weight is ideal, there is a zone within which your weight is right for your build. Use this rule of thumb: allow 100, 105, or 110 pounds for the first 5 feet of height, depending on whether your frame is slight, medium or large. Then add 5 pounds for each inch by which your height exceeds 5 feet.

HEIGHT IS computed without shoes, weight without clothing.

For the normal and near normal weight, here is the best possible health and beauty rule: Don't overeat. . .don't under-exercise.

Send a stamped, self-addressed long evenlope for "Ideal Weight Chart For Women," and "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Domestic Help's Social Security Requires Report

The Social Security Administration's Youngstown office reminded today that domestic workers who are paid as much as $50 cash in a calendar quarter from a single employer can receive Social Security credit for their earnings.

But to get the credit, their earnings must be reported. Employers must make a quarterly report to Internal Revenue Service when they pay a domestic worker as much as $50 cash wages in the quarter. These reports should be filed after the close of each calendar quarter and are due by April 30, July 31, Oct. 31 and Jan. 31 every year.

Most household employers will make their reports on Form 942. This is a special simplified form printed on the inside of a return envelope. If a household employer is already on the mailing list of the district director of Internal Revenue, one of these forms will be mailed before the end of December. If Social Security taxes are due from a household employer who is not now on the mailing list, the employer should ask the district director for the form and give him her name and address to be added to the mailing list before the next quarterly return is due.

The amount of the Social Security tax is 6¼ per cent of the total cash wages paid to a household worker in a calendar quarter. The employe is expected to share this tax with the employer. However, it is the obligation of the employer to report and send the total tax of 6¼ per cent to the district director of Internal Revenue. The $50 cash wage test applies separately to each household worker and no report or Social Security tax is due on any household worker paid less than $50 cash during the calendar quarter.

The local Social Security office is in the Post Office and the Internal Revenue office is on the second floor of the Erlanger building.

High School's Job Guidance Week Slated

Arrangements virtually have been completed for the 16th annual Vocational Guidance Week April 2-6 at East Liverpool High School.

C. L. Sewall, vice president for academic affairs of Robert Morris School in Pittsburgh, will be the keynote speaker when the guidance program is kicked off at a special assembly Monday, April 2, at 10:45 a.m.

A total of 47 conferences with local business and professional men will be held starting the following day to help students learn about occupations in which they may be interested.

Where possible, each student will attend two conferences during the week. Following the talks from the business leaders, a question-and-answer period will be held.

The guidance week was started here in the 1946-47 term and has been held annually. It is supervised by Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys, and Mrs. Ruth Connor, dean of girls.

Financial Help Sought For Potters In Strike

The Executive Board of the Internatnational Brotherhood of Operative Potters said Friday it has sanctioned an appeal throughout the trade for financial support for Local Union 72 in its strike against the Peerless Pottery Co. of Evansville, Ind., a manufacturer of sanitary ware.

The strike is in its third week and no settlement is in sight, the IBOP said. The local said its members voted to strike rather than "deal with a company that has such dictatorial views about its employes."

The IBOP also announced settlement of a strike by members of Local 313 against the plant of Alliance Ware, Inc., at Somerset, Pa. It also is a sanitary plant. A new agreement has been reached, ending the four-week strike, but details were not available immediately on the terms, the union said.

Lack Of License Costs Youth 2nd Sentence In Jail

A 19-year-old Beechwood youth was sentenced to jail for the second time in less than two months when he pleaded guilty Friday before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of driving after his operator's license had been suspended.

He is James Lee Kraft, 233 Center St., arrested at 10:40 a.m. Thursday on Center St. while operating a motorcycle, police said. Judge Chertoff imposed a 30-day County Jail term on the charge filed by Patrolmen E. R. Furgason and F. K. Heddleston.

The judge pointed out Kraft was given a 10-day jail term Jan. 12 on a charge of driving without a license. He was arrested twice in 1961 on reckless driving charges, the judge added. One charge led to a 30-day jail term and in the other case he was fined $50 and costs.

Police said Kraft later lost his driver's license under Ohio's 12-point "demerit" system.

"What am I going to do to convince you that you cannot drive without a license?" the judge asked Kraft. The youth said he is unemployed and is supported by his parents.

"I'm going to save them some money for awhile," the judge said, imposing the jail sentence.

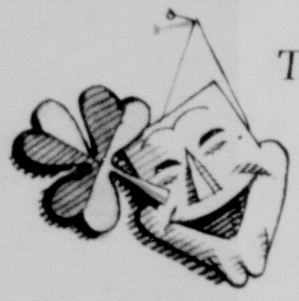
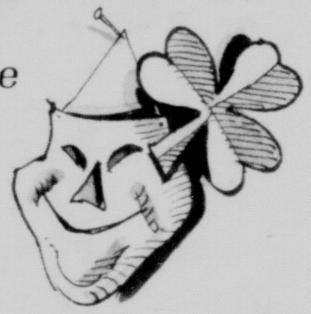
The Wearin' of the Grin



The popular raconteur visits a popular, humor-filled people and comes back with these stories for St. Patrick's Day



By BENNETT CERF

IF YOU'RE ever lucky enough to visit Dublin, Ireland, I hope you'll have as much fun as my wife, our two boys, and I had recently.

The ride into the city was an exhilarating one, for example. Our driver pointed out a railroad crossing where a guard had left the gate half open the day before, causing a traffic tie-up clear down to O'Connell Street. A policeman finally cornered the guard and demanded, "What's the idea of leaving this gate half open?"

The guard explained: "I'm half expecting a train from Galway."

Arriving at the hotel, our driver pointed out

a man in the lobby who once was silly enough to confess to an editor: "My name is Patrick Dolan, but I'm not Irish."

"When you get to heaven," advised the editor, "just tell 'em your name—and never say another word!"

And how the Irish love to tell stories about themselves! Before I had been in Dublin two days, I had these anecdotes for my collection:

A wealthy American checked into an inn near Cork and told the proprietor: "For dinner this evening I'll want a clear soup, salmon mayonnaise, a rare steak, strawberries and cream, and Irish coffee."

The flabbergasted proprietor exclaimed: "Sure, sir, if we had all them things we'd have ate them ourselves!"

Tim Casey, a mite of a man, flew into a rage when a brawny 200-pounder accidentally jostled him on the street. "Watch where you're going, you clumsy oaf," roared little Casey. "They call me 'Casey the Lion,' and I eat bruisers like you for me afternoon snack. Now what did I do with me tools? Ah, here they are! I'm that strong I didn't know I had 'em under me arm."

The 200-pounder said, "Hah!" and poked Casey in the stomach with one finger.

Casey yelled like a stuck pig, staggered backward, and landed in a heap on the sidewalk. "'Casey the Lion,'" mocked the 200-pounder. "One tiny poke, and you holler like I'd killed you."

Casey, still supine, indicated his solar plexus, and whined, "You don't understand. That's the worst place in the world to hit a lion!"

THEN THERE was the guard at the entrance to a flossy Long Island estate who barred the way to Shaughnessy, an old acquaintance who unexpectedly appeared leading an enormous elephant by a halter. "Come now, Shaughnessy," protested the guard. "You know we don't allow no elephants in here."

Back came Shaughnessy the very next day, leading the same elephant. He had, however, pasted a slice of bread on the elephant's trunk and another slice of bread on its tail.

"Didn't I tell you yesterday," roared the guard, "that we don't allow no elephants in this place?"

"So what?" demanded Shaughnessy. "This ain't no elephant, you fool. This is a sandwich!"

Officer Mulrooney wasn't the brightest lad on the town's police force, but his father-in-law was mayor so there was no way of remedying the situation. One night his chief told Mulrooney: "There's a buzzard been carting apples out of McDonnell's orchard every night recently, and I want you to ambush him tonight."

Late that night, Mulrooney spotted a man sneaking off McDonnell's premises with a heavy sack over his shoulder. Mulrooney collared him and emptied the sack on the ground. Out tumbled a silver tea set, an antique miniature, and Mrs. McDonnell's Sunday coat. "Golly, I'm sorry," apologized Mulrooney. "I thought you was stealing apples."

We also heard about a very tough lad who swaggered into a crowded political meeting and hollered, "Is there a rat here named Donovan?" Nobody answered. Again he hollered—even louder: "Is there a polecat here named Donovan?"

This time a pale, skinny shrimp stepped forward and announced, "I'm Donovan."

The tough lad picked him up, socked him in the jaw, knocked out six teeth, flung him across the bar, and walked out.

When the shrimp recovered consciousness, he cackled: "Boy, did I fool him. I ain't Donovan!"

And finally there was a customer in a big department store who stepped up to a very Irish porter and asked, "Do you know where the chintz room is?"

"That I do," replied the porter obligingly—and pointed to a door marked "Gentlemen."

a man in the lobby who once was silly enough to confess to an editor: "My name is Patrick Dolan, but I'm not Irish."

"When you get to heaven," advised the editor, "just tell 'em your name—and never say another word!"

And how the Irish love to tell stories about themselves! Before I had been in Dublin two days, I had these anecdotes for my collection:

A wealthy American checked into an inn near Cork and told the proprietor: "For dinner this evening I'll want a clear soup, salmon mayonnaise, a rare steak, strawberries and cream, and Irish coffee."

The flabbergasted proprietor exclaimed: "Sure, sir, if we had all them things we'd have ate them ourselves!"

Tim Casey, a mite of a man, flew into a rage when a brawny 200-pounder accidentally jostled him on the street. "Watch where you're going, you clumsy oaf," roared little Casey. "They call me 'Casey the Lion,' and I eat bruisers like you for me afternoon snack. Now what did I do with me tools? Ah, here they are! I'm that strong I didn't know I had 'em under me arm."

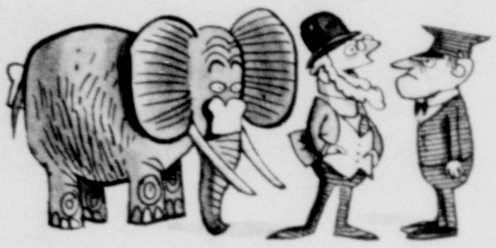
The 200-pounder said, "Hah!" and poked Casey in the stomach with one finger.

Casey yelled like a stuck pig, staggered backward, and landed in a heap on the sidewalk. "'Casey the Lion,'" mocked the 200-pounder. "One tiny poke, and you holler like I'd killed you."

Casey, still supine, indicated his solar plexus, and whined, "You don't understand. That's the worst place in the world to hit a lion!"

THEN THERE was the guard at the entrance to a flossy Long Island estate who barred the way to Shaughnessy, an old acquaintance who unexpectedly appeared leading an enormous elephant by a halter. "Come now, Shaughnessy," protested the guard. "You know we don't allow no elephants in here."

Back came Shaughnessy the very next day,



leading the same elephant. He had, however, pasted a slice of bread on the elephant's trunk and another slice of bread on its tail.

"Didn't I tell you yesterday," roared the guard, "that we don't allow no elephants in this place?"

"So what?" demanded Shaughnessy. "This ain't no elephant, you fool. This is a sandwich!"

Officer Mulrooney wasn't the brightest lad on the town's police force, but his father-in-law was mayor so there was no way of remedying the situation. One night his chief told Mulrooney: "There's a buzzard been carting apples out of McDonnell's orchard every night recently, and I want you to ambush him tonight."

Late that night, Mulrooney spotted a man sneaking off McDonnell's premises with a heavy sack over his shoulder. Mulrooney collared him and emptied the sack on the ground. Out tumbled a silver tea set, an antique miniature, and Mrs. McDonnell's Sunday coat. "Golly, I'm sorry," apologized Mulrooney. "I thought you was stealing apples."

We also heard about a very tough lad who swaggered into a crowded political meeting and hollered, "Is there a rat here named Donovan?" Nobody answered. Again he hollered—even louder: "Is there a polecat here named Donovan?"

This time a pale, skinny shrimp stepped forward and announced, "I'm Donovan."

The tough lad picked him up, socked him in the jaw, knocked out six teeth, flung him across the bar, and walked out.

When the shrimp recovered consciousness, he cackled: "Boy, did I fool him. I ain't Donovan!"

And finally there was a customer in a big department store who stepped up to a very Irish porter and asked, "Do you know where the chintz room is?"

"That I do," replied the porter obligingly—and pointed to a door marked "Gentlemen."

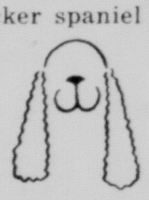
Of a cocker spaniel grinning.



His nose is very soft and snoopy,

Cocker spaniels can insist

Or being cuddled in your lap.

Line up the players and have them pretend they are visiting an aquarium. The first player names an aquarium creature whose name begins with the letter "a"; the second player names one beginning with the letter "b"; the third with the letter "c"; and so on. (Example: anemone, barnacle, clam).

Perhaps it will be best to omit the letter "x." Players unable to name an aquarium inhabitant for their letter must drop out of the game. Continue repeating the alphabet until only one, the winner, is left. No repeats on aquarium dwellers already named, please.

one day. I'd like to tell you about it."

Joe will probably be happy to listen to your story. Watch him for his reactions. Listen to his response. He may have an interesting idea that may be valuable. He won't know that you are rehearsing your talk, and it really doesn't matter. But he probably will say that he enjoyed the conversation.

Naturally, to make the greatest impression, you will need to be 100-percent sincere. As Alexander Woollcott put it: "The sincerity with which a man speaks imparts to his voice a color of truth no perjurer can feign."

Only by choosing topics which are felt by the heart as well as thought out by the mind will this sincerity be made manifest. Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, one of America's most dynamic speakers, learned this lesson early in life.

"I was chosen for the debating team in college," he wrote in his book, Life Is Worth Living, "and the night before the Notre Dame debate, our professor of debating called me to his office and scolded me.

"'You are absolutely rotten. We have never had anybody in the history of this college who was a worse speaker than yourself.'

"'Well,' I said, trying to justify myself, 'if I am so rotten why did you pick me for the team?'

"'Because you can think,' he answered, 'not because you can talk. Get over in that corner. Take a paragraph of your speech and go through it.' I repeated a paragraph over and over again until the professor said, 'Do you see any mistake in that?'

"Being naturally quick, after two hours and a half I caught on. I said, 'Yes. I am not sincere. I am not myself. I do not talk as if I meant it.'"

At this point, Bishop Sheen learned a lesson he always remembered: he put himself into his talk. He became excited about his subject matter. Only then the wise professor said, "Now you are ready to speak!"

There are three factors in every speaking situation: the speaker, the speech or the message, and the audience. Only when the speaker relates his talk to a living audience will the speaking situation come to life. The talk may be well prepared; it may concern a topic which the speaker is excited about; but for complete success, another factor must enter into his delivery of the talk.

HE MUST make his listeners feel that what he has to say is important to them. He must not only be excited about his topic but be eager to transfer this excitement to them.

In every public speaker of note in the history of eloquence, there has been this unmistakable quality of salesmanship, evangelism, call it what you will. The effective speaker earnestly desires his listeners to feel what he feels, to agree with his point of view, to do what he thinks is right for them to do, and to enjoy and relive his experience with him.

He is audience-centered and not self-centered. He knows that the success or failure of his talk is not for him to decide—it will be decided in the minds and hearts of his hearers.

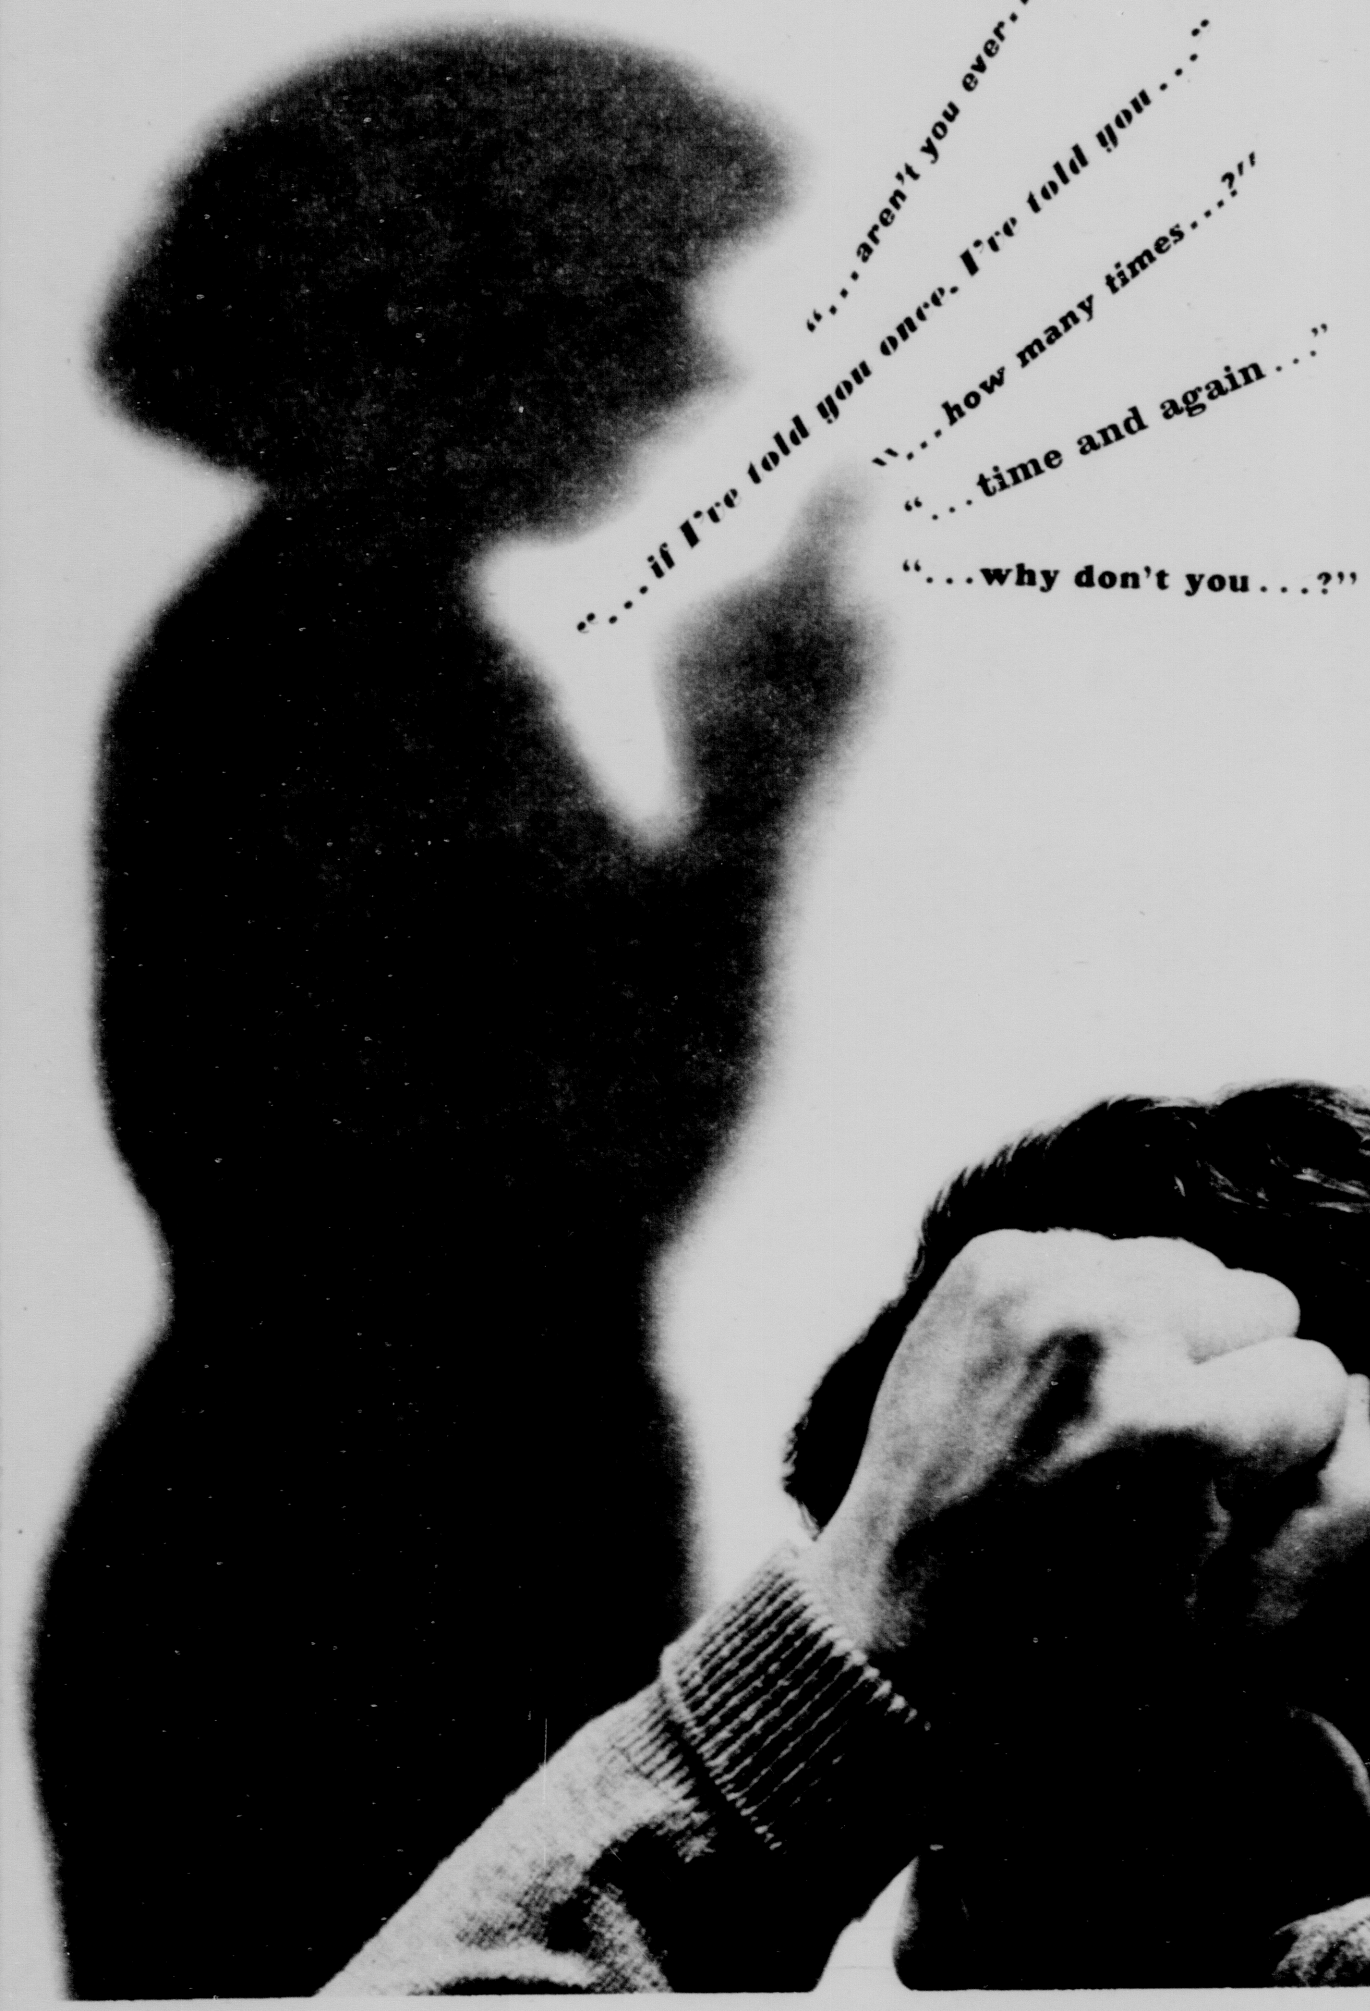
NAGGING—THE TORMENTING

Scolding husbands and of all—one buried deep



AS A MARRIAGE COUNSELOR who listens to many grievances aired by distraught wives and husbands, I was naturally struck by a recent revelation by Dr. E. E. Hedblom, who was former medical adviser to the Antarctic Naval Support Force.

In his 12 years of experience with polar expeditions, Dr. Hedblom found that many of the men volunteered for Antarctic duty chiefly to escape nagging wives!

Such a recourse may seem extreme. Yet chronic nagging is one of the major symptoms of marital conflict that may eventually lead to divorce. When polls are taken to discover what unhappily married couples object to in each other, nagging generally is far up on the list.

Just what is this insidious, corroding, and infuriating "indoor sport"? By definition, to nag is "to annoy by faultfinding . . . to irritate by persistent scolding or urging." Significantly, the word stems from the Scandinavian nagga, which means "to gnaw."

Essentially the nagger launches a cold war of attrition, like the tormenting technique of water dripping relentlessly on stone until the victim surrenders for the sake of peace—or rebels into explosive warfare and stalks out.

It happens in thousands of homes. Overpersistence may concern anything from cleaning the sink after shaving to buying a fur coat.

Traditionally, only women were considered to be naggers. Today, the picture has changed. Women have achieved a large measure of eman-

Of course, only the prepared speaker deserves to be confident. How can anyone ever hope to storm the fortress of fear if he goes into battle with defective weapons, or with no ammunition at all?

"I believe," said Abraham Lincoln, "that I shall never be old enough to speak without embarrassment when I have nothing to say."

If you want to develop confidence, why not do the one thing that will give you security as a speaker? "Perfect love," wrote the Apostle John, "casteth out fear." So does perfect preparation.

By "perfect preparation" do I mean that you should memorize your talk? To this question I give back a thunderous NO. In their attempts to protect their egos from the dangers of drawing a mental blank before an audience, many speakers fall headlong into the trap of memorization. Once a victim of this type of mental dope addiction, the speaker is hopelessly bound to a time-consuming method of preparation that destroys effectiveness on the platform.

Lincoln once said: "I don't like to hear a cut-and-dried sermon. When I hear a man preach, I like to see him act as if he were fighting bees." No speaker ever acts as if he were fighting bees when he is trying to recall memorized words.

WHAT THEN, is the proper method of preparing a talk? Simply this: search your background for significant experiences that have taught you something about life, and assemble your thoughts, your ideas, your convictions that have welled up from these experiences.

Should you rehearse your talk after you have it in some kind of order? By all means. Here is a sure-fire method that is easy and effective. Use the ideas you have selected for your talk in everyday conversation with your friends and business associates. Mark Twain: "Written things are not for speech; their form is literary; they are stiff, inflexible, and will not lend themselves to happy effective delivery with the tongue. Where their purpose is merely to entertain, not to instruct, they have to be limbered up, broken up, colloquialized, and turned into the common form of unpremeditated talk; otherwise they will bore the house—not entertain it."

Henry Ward Beecher: "When the congregation falls asleep, there is only one thing to do: provide the usher with a sharp stick and have him prod the preacher."

Norman Thomas: "If a speech is to be of any importance at all, the speaker should live with the theme or message, turning it over and over in his mind. He will be surprised at how many useful illustrations or ways of putting his case will come to him as he walks the street, or reads a newspaper, or gets ready for bed, or wakes up in the morning. Mediocre speaking . . . is merely the inevitable . . . reflection of mediocre thinking, and the consequence of imperfect acquaintance with the subject in hand."

TRAIT THAT WRECKS MARRIAGES

shrewish wives can find fault in everything yet never see the worst fault inside themselves

By PAUL VAHANIAN, Ph.D. as told to Theodore Irwin

Supervisor of Marriage and Family Counseling Program, Teacher's College, Columbia University

cipation. Millions hold outside jobs of their own. They are no longer always the underdogs in the family, and generally they are less dependent on their husbands. Thus, clinical studies, as well as my own observations, indicate a growing trend toward male naggers, perhaps as their way of lashing back at their "liberated" partners. Curiously, I find that wives seldom refer to their husbands as chronic naggers; usually they say their men "criticize" too much or constantly find fault with them.

I recall, for example, a particularly disturbed couple who consulted me last year. Tearfully, Diana told me that her husband Bill constantly criticized her for not keeping their home neat and orderly. Bill is an accountant, extremely precise and meticulous, who feels compulsive about having everything in order.

His wife, on the other hand, is a casual person, although their neighbors have had occasion to praise her for the way she keeps her home. It turned out that Bill's unreasonable nagging stemmed from his inability to get ahead on his job. He had been projecting his sense of failure, taking it out on his wife.

Don't Destroy Self-Respect

What does it really accomplish? It may achieve the individual's purpose at the time, but it is at the expense of marital harmony. In destructive quarreling neither side wins. Such pestering destroys the self-respect of both.

Reactions take diverse forms. One phenomenon observed by psychiatrists and marriage counselors is that the spouse who rebels against such pressuring may suppress all affection. In other instances, the spouse who is nagged virtually stops talking—turning a deaf ear and losing all desire to relate to a mate.

Sometimes, the response takes a strange direction. Last year, a young husband telephoned police that someone was trying to break into a school. Then he hurried to the school with some tools and waited for the police to arrest him. What was behind this odd behavior? According to police, he had warned his wife that if she didn't stop her tormenting he would get himself arrested. He did.

As I interpret the incident, this was a hostile act on the husband's part. In desperation, he wanted to make his torment public—to say, in effect, "See what a nag I'm married to" and get people to sympathize with him.

Basically, when a person resorts to this unfair, galling weapon, it's an admission of defeat. The persistently plaintive woman is actually a self-confessed dud as a wife and as a female. She has failed to make her partner feel so pleased, proud, and grateful that he will leap at the chance to satisfy her.

The underlying significance of nagging is that it covers up the real issues in a discordant household. When it's resorted to, it is a symbol of despair or even tragedy. It shows that the couple has ceased—or never learned—to love each other, in its deepest sense.

Beneath her pressuring, a wife harbors a mystical hope that by her husband's acquiescence he will reassure her of his devotion. In substance she is saying, "If you really cared for me, you would do this for me." In my opinion, the gnawing, latent doubt about being loved is felt by both the nagger and the victim.

Consider, for example, what happened with a couple I'll call Joe and Mary. Because Mary had a habit of arriving late for appointments, Joe kept harping on the fault until she was driven to distraction.

After several sessions with Joe, I learned that he felt inadequate. He had great difficulty in expressing affection for his wife. And to him it was important to have control of his home. So when Mary was late, he felt it was an assault on his integrity as a man.

Self-righteously, he told me: "I'm always on time. She's late because she knows it irritates me—she does it to spite me." In retaliation, he nagged at her. Clearly there was a certain paranoidlike quality behind his behavior.

Why do people do it? As I've pointed out, inner tensions and the desire for love are usually hidden factors. Often, too, an individual who has been nagged at home by parents or an older brother or sister later turns about and retaliates against a spouse. Another symptom of a nagger is the tendency to be an "injustice collector," gathering so many real or fancied wrongs committed against him by his mate that he goes on the offensive by harassing her.

Finding ammunition is easy. In the intimacy of marriage, couples discover each other's foibles. During periods of tension, the nagger uses this knowledge as a club.

How to Cope with the Problem

Since it is a danger signal portending a family breakdown, the tendency should obviously be avoided—and it can be stopped. Here are a few suggestions, based on my experience as a counselor, to cope with the problem:

1. Your first step is to become aware that you're nagging. Watch for giveaway expressions such as these: "How many times have I told you . . . ?" ". . . again and again . . . ," "If I've told you once, I've told you 50 times . . ." and "Aren't you ever going to . . .?"

The too-frequent use of imperatives—"Stop it!" or "Don't . . ."—may precede a scolding attack. Listen, too, for a response from your spouse which sounds like "Lay off, honey, I don't want to hear any more."

2. Once you are conscious of the pestering habit, get some perspective and make a strong effort to be honest with yourself. People under emotional stress find it hard to think straight. If you are pressing your mate to do something, to what extent are you justified? Are you being reasonable, for instance, in demanding that he paint the porch floor when he is dead tired?

3. If you're convinced your request is fair, present your case clearly and cogently without raising your voice so that it sounds like a cross between a threat and a whine. (Often, it's the caustic or ironic tone, rather than the words, that is most irritating.) After you have presented your point of view, don't repeat it with hammering intensity.

Timing is important, too. Avoid making requests as soon as your husband comes home from work or when your wife is busy with chores. Wait for a receptive mood.

4. Look for the hidden reason behind your nagging. What are you really trying to prove or accomplish? Nail down this inner disturbance, bring it out in the open, and you'll probably discover you have no need to nag.

5. Some psychologists suggest that you do a little "bargaining." Let's say Tom keeps postponing the repair of a banging screen door. Martha brings out the toolbox and sweetly proposes that while he fixes the door she will whip up his favorite strawberry shortcake.

Keep It on an Adult Level

Far more preferable, I believe, is the direct approach. Martha can say: "Look, we've got to fix that door because it's bothering both of us. It's too heavy for me to handle. What are we going to do about it?" Note that she says "we."

If he offers some valid excuse, Martha can then suggest that they hire a handyman or a neighborhood teen-ager for the task. This is a rational approach in which the issue is discussed on an adult basis with mutual respect.

In this way, you learn to talk things over so that you get to understand each other's attitudes and thinking. Create an atmosphere in which compromises are reached.

6. When your mate responds with exaggerated sensitivity to a request you make, try to understand what is upsetting him instead of becoming offended. His mood at that moment may reflect an underlying frustration or disappointment about something unrelated to you.

7. Get some fun out of life. The more you adorn your existence with good times, the less likely you are to turn into a maddening nagger.

Ideally, I can't see that it is ever justified. Of course, at times people do tend to be forgetful, lazy, and reluctant to be pushed around, but we must accept the fact that we are all human. An occasional emotional tirade may prove helpful in clearing the air.

It mostly comes down to this: if you've made your mate happy and earned his or her affection, no logical request you make is apt to be refused. Some conflict is normal in any family, but there is no room for a talking leech in a home enriched by love.

The money-for-college plan with an extra guarantee!

With the cost of a college education constantly increasing, foresighted families realize they must "save ahead" if their children are to have this opportunity. Many methods are available. But only one removes the risk of what might happen to these college plans if the family wage earner should die.

This is why many fathers are using one or more of their life insurance policies to guarantee money for college. They know the cash values in these policies can be used to help meet these costs if they live. And if they don't, the full amount of the policies will be available for their youngsters' college years.

No other "money-for-college" plan offers this extra guarantee. It is one of the unique advantages of life insurance.

5 ways that the unique advantages of life insurance bring peace of mind at the stroke of a pen

1. Guarantees immediate family protection. Only life insurance enables you to provide full protection for your family right from the start.

2. Guarantees a family can keep its home. With life insurance, a man can guarantee there will be money to pay off the mortgage if he doesn't live to complete the payments.

3. Guarantees money for emergencies. The guaranteed cash values in your policy can help you meet big unexpected expenses.

4. Guarantees a lifetime income at retirement. Life insurance can furnish additional income for the policyholder and his wife at retirement that's guaranteed as long as either lives.

5. Guarantees funds for children's education. By having a life insurance policy for college expenses, you can guarantee your boy or girl will have this opportunity, whether you live or not.

To make sure you get the most from your life insurance, take full advantage of the continuing service your life insurance agent offers. Review your program with him regularly—at least every two years—to keep it in line with your changing circumstances. This service, which costs you nothing, may make your life insurance even more valuable when you or your family need it.

The money-for-college plan with an extra guarantee!

With the cost of a college education constantly increasing, foresighted families realize they must "save ahead" if their children are to have this opportunity. Many methods are available. But only one removes the risk of what might happen to these college plans if the family wage earner should die.

This is why many fathers are using one or more of their life insurance policies to guarantee money for college. They know the cash values in these policies can be used to help meet these costs if they live. And if they don't, the full amount of the policies will be available for their youngsters' college years.

No other "money-for-college" plan offers this extra guarantee. It is one of the unique advantages of life insurance.

5 ways that the unique advantages of life insurance bring peace of mind at the stroke of a pen

1. Guarantees immediate family protection. Only life insurance enables you to provide full protection for your family right from the start.

2. Guarantees a family can keep its home. With life insurance, a man can guarantee there will be money to pay off the mortgage if he doesn't live to complete the payments.

3. Guarantees money for emergencies. The guaranteed cash values in your policy can help you meet big unexpected expenses.

4. Guarantees a lifetime income at retirement. Life insurance can furnish additional income for the policyholder and his wife at retirement that's guaranteed as long as either lives.

5. Guarantees funds for children's education. By having a life insurance policy for college expenses, you can guarantee your boy or girl will have this opportunity, whether you live or not.

To make sure you get the most from your life insurance, take full advantage of the continuing service your life insurance agent offers. Review your program with him regularly—at least every two years—to keep it in line with your changing circumstances. This service, which costs you nothing, may make your life insurance even more valuable when you or your family need it.

If I fail, it will be deeply embarrassing to my wife and myself socially; in addition, it might lower my prestige with my clients. That is why I have come all the way from Cuba for your help. I can stay only three weeks."

During those three weeks, I had Mario Lazo going from one class to another speaking three or four times a night. Three weeks later, he addressed the distinguished gathering at the Havana Country Club. His address was so outstanding that Time magazine reported it under foreign news and described Mario Lazo as a "silver-tongued orator."

Sounds like a miracle, doesn't it? It is a miracle—a 20th-century miracle of conquering fear.

Even important national figures confess feeling qualms when they get up to address an audience. Adlai Stevenson once began a talk with the following words:

"My feeling of inadequacy on these occasions brings to mind Samuel Butler's remark when he was once asked to talk about how to make the most out of life. I think his reply was: 'I don't even know how to make the most out of the next 15 minutes.' And I must confess I feel that way about the next 20 minutes!"

When George Bernard Shaw was asked how he learned to speak so compellingly in public, he replied: "I did it the same way I learned to skate—by doggedly making a fool of myself until I got used to it."

As a youth, Shaw was one of the most timid persons in London. He often walked up and down the Embankment for 20 minutes or more before venturing to knock at a door. "Few men," he confessed, "have suffered more from simple cowardice or have been more horribly ashamed of it."

A husband was sitting disconsolately on the front stoop of his home, shaking his head. "What's the matter?" asked a passing neighbor. "Are you having trouble with the wife?"

The husband nodded. "I can't understand it," he said. "All of a sudden, she blew up. I was reading the newspaper, and she was telling me what she'd been doing—washed all the kids' clothes, vacuumed the entire house, shopped, baked, and weeded the flower bed."

"And you ignored her, and she blew up, eh?" the neighbor added.

The firemen carefully unrolled their hoses and began to spray the house. "Don't soak everything!" the woman continued. "And don't use chemicals—they're bad on the furniture."

When childhood constipation occurs

More mothers use Fletcher's Castoria than any other laxative

Because

Fletcher's Castoria gives the prompt, yet natural-like relief from temporary constipation that medical authorities agree is best for a child's young system. Its pure extract of Senna is considered one of nature's finest vegetable laxative products.

Fletcher's Castoria is gentle, the prime requisite for a child's laxative. It contains none of the harsh drugs so often found in adult laxatives, drugs that can upset your child's system.

Fletcher's Castoria is liquid, so exact dosage is sure: from drops to teaspoonfuls as needed. Very important, too, Castoria tastes good. So children take it willingly, even lick the spoon.

Fletcher's Castoria is the only nationally-recognized laxative made especially for children of all ages. So why take chances . . . the laxative that's "right" for you can well be "wrong" for your child. Get famous Fletcher's Castoria today.

By DALE CARNEGIE as revised by Dorothy Carnegie

Self-confidence is the foundation of success in any undertaking. But what is the foundation of self-confidence? Most experts agree it's the ability to speak clearly and authoritatively. Few of us today escape the demands of public speaking. It may be before only a small neighborhood social group or an informal business get-together; it may be before a large luncheon or a community assembly. In any case, your confidence in these situations depends on your ability to talk.

Dale Carnegie devoted his life to helping people gain confidence through better speaking. This article is excerpted from a new revision of his book on the subject.*

*"The Quick and Easy Way to Effective Speaking," a revision by Dorothy Carnegie of "Public Speaking and Influencing Men in Business" by Dale Carnegie. ©1962 by Dorothy Carnegie, to be published March 15 by Association Press, New York, N. Y.

WILLIAM JAMES, Harvard's most distinguished professor of psychology, wrote six sentences that could have a profound effect on your life, six sentences that are the open sesame to Ali Baba's treasure cave of courage:

"In almost any subject, your passion for the subject will save you. If you care enough for a result, you will most certainly attain it. If you wish to be good, you will be good. If you wish to be rich, you will be rich. If you wish to be learned, you will be learned. Only then you must really wish these things and wish them with exclusiveness and not wish 100 other incompatible things just as strongly."

In the demonstration meetings preceding the first session of the Dale Carnegie Course, people are given the opportunity of telling why they intend to enroll and what they hope to gain from this training. Naturally, the phraseology varies, but the central desire, the basic want in the vast majority of cases, remains surprisingly the same:

"When I am called upon to stand up and speak, I become so self-conscious, so frightened, that I can't think clearly, can't concentrate, can't remember what I intended to say. I want to gain self-confidence, poise, and the ability to think on my feet. I want to get my thoughts together in logical order, and I want to be able to talk clearly and convincingly before a business or social group."

I know what you are going to say, what you would say if you could talk to me: "But Mr. Carnegie, do you really think I could develop the confidence to face a group of people and address them in a coherent, fluent manner?"

I HAVE SPENT nearly all my life helping people get rid of their fears and develop courage and confidence. I could fill many books with the stories of the miracles that have taken place in my classes. It is not, therefore, a question of my thinking. I know you can, if you practice the directions and suggestions that you will find in my book.

Sometimes the miracle has been done by means of a single talk delivered at the right moment. Let me tell you the story of Mario Lazo.

Years ago, I received a cable from Cuba that astonished me. It read: "Unless you cable me to the contrary, I am coming to New York to take training to make a speech." It was signed: "Mario Lazo."

Who was he? I had never heard of him before.

When Mr. Lazo arrived in New York, he said: "The Havana Country Club is going to celebrate the 50th birthday of the founder of the club, and I have been invited to present him with a silver cup and to make the principal talk of the

MEAT LOAF
EASIEST EVER! SAVORY WITH ONION SOUP MIX AND PET

the milk with twice the country cream in every drop...

Just three ingredients, three simple steps. Dried onion soup mix adds all the rich and savory seasonings you need. And double-rich PET firms the beef into a moist, tender loaf, holds in the good meat juices and blends the flavors as it bakes. No need to add an egg, for PET is the perfect binder. Thin milk just won't do. It takes thick-as-cream PET for this juicy, onion-flecked meat loaf—as easy as 1-2-3.
